BRITISH PRESSED ON NEAR STRUMA, TAKING PART OF A VILLAGE

Advanced From New Positions Near Karajakeui and Captured Part of Yenikeui; Repulsed Two Bulgarian Attacks; Fighting Continues; Gains in Florina Region

London, Oct. 4.—British troops yesterday morning pushed forward from their new positions near Karajakeui, on the east bank of the Struma river in Greek Macedonia, and captured a part of the village of Yenikeui, says a statement issued by the war office to-day. Bulgarian troops launched three counter-attacks and fighting for the newly-won positions still is in progress.

The text of the statement follows:

"Salonica front.—Early yesterday our troops advanced from our new positions near the village of Karajakeui and captured that part of Yenikeui which lies south of the Seres road. Bulgarian troops attacked immediately, but their first counter-attack was broken up by our artillery fire. The second attack had no more success than the first and never approached closer than 1,000 yards. During the evening a third attack, preceded by a heavy bombardment, was made with fresh troops, and the fighting continues. Severe casualties were inflicted on the enemy."

More Positions Occupied.

Paris, Oct. 4.—The Bulgarians have abandoned several positions in the Struma, Crna and Brod river regions and four towns northeast of Florina, in Greek Macedonia, have been occupied by entente forces.

RUSSIAN GUNBOATS SHELLED BULGARIANS

Operating on Danube; Berlin Claims Roumanians Have Left Bulgaria

Petrograd, Oct. 4.—Russian troops are continuing their offensive against the forces of the central powers and their allies in the Roumanian province of Dobruja, says an official statement issued to-day. Russian gunboats on the river Danube have shelled the left flank of the Bulgarian army near Rachova, which lies about 14 miles south of Tchernavoda. The text of the statement follows:

"Dobruja.—Russian gunboats bombarded the left flank of the Bulgarian army near Rachova, which is beyond Tchernavoda, on the Danube. Our offensive in the region of Rachova, Tsopadin and Tervel continues."

"Considerable Units."
Sofia, Oct. 4.—The Roumanian forces which crossed the Danube and invaded Bulgaria are described as "considerable units of troops" in an official statement issued to-day, which, however, does not report any clash between Bulgarian forces and the invaders.

German Statement.
Berlin, Oct. 4.—The Roumanian forces which crossed the Danube river between the Danube fortresses of Rustchuk and Turtukal have withdrawn hastily, says a statement issued to-day by army headquarters, as the result of encircling movements put into operation by Field Marshal von Mackensen.

GERMANY STAGGERING; NO STRATEGIC RESERVES; ALL OF 1916 CLASS AND QUARTER OF 1917 CLASS AT FRONT

London, Oct. 4.—Ellis Ashmead Bartlett, now a correspondent with the French army, sends a dispatch analyzing Germany's man power. He says: "Of the 192 infantry divisions composing the present German army, 117 consist of only three regiments of three battalions each instead of four regiments of three battalions."

"Proof that the Germans have now no strategic reserves is supplied by the manner in which divisions are moved from one battlefield to another, without rest or reorganization. The forty-third reserve division was taken from Verdun on June 10 and on June 24 it was discovered in front of Lutsk. Of ten divisions taken from the Somme front between September 2 and 9 for a rest, four already have been employed to relieve others in Artois. On the occasion of the attack by the British and French from September 12 to 15, a division already entrained and well on the way to Russia, had to be brought back hastily to the Somme front."

STRATHCONA'S HORSE MAY WINTER HERE

Mounted Troops Likely to Come to Willows Camp in Few Weeks

MOVE TO COAST WOULD FACILITATE TRAINING

It is probable that Strathcona's Horse will come here to make its headquarters at the Willows for the winter. A dispatch from Winnipeg states that when the unit leaves Camp Hughes it will not return to the Fort Osborne Street barracks, Winnipeg, but will leave in a few weeks for Victoria. Capt. Duff Stuart, a son of Col. Duff Stuart, D.O.C., is an officer in Strathcona's Horse.

Inquiry of the local authorities elicited the information that the matter had been mooted, but that no definite information had yet been received. From other sources, however, it is learned that efforts have been made to have Strathcona's Horse come here for the winter. The barracks at the Willows are unoccupied at present, and the stabling there is ample for the accommodation of the horses. In this city the training could be kept up throughout the winter, whereas in Winnipeg active work would have to stop.

It will be good news to the people of Victoria to hear that there is a probability of having troops here for the winter. With the Bantams going away in the near future, it looked as if Victoria soon would be denuded of all military units, something which would not be desirable, considering the particular suitability of this centre for the winter training of troops.

SIR J. D. LANTON DEAD.

London, Oct. 4.—Sir James Drummond Lanton, president of the Royal Institute of Painters in Water Colors, died yesterday at his home on Haverstock Hill. He was born in London in 1840.

JOHN FRASER GOES TO ARMY PAY OFFICE IN ENGLAND; CHANGE SOON

Ottawa, Oct. 4.—John Fraser, auditor-general of Canada, will leave tomorrow for England, where he will investigate the army pay office. It is probable that Mr. Fraser may find it advisable to establish a branch of his office in London in order that a closer supervision of the military accounts may be exercised. While there is no complaint in regard to the majority of the regiments, others have displayed business inexperience and a better system probably will have to be devised.

SINCE JUNE BRITISH HAVE THROWN GERMANS TO FOURTH LINE NORTH OF SOMME, TAKEN MANY, REDUCED MORALE

Have Engaged 38 Enemy Divisions, 29 of Which Had to Be Withdrawn; Remarkable Work by Aeroplanes; a Review

London, Oct. 4.—An official statement issued here to-day gives details of the fighting north of the Somme after the advance of September 15. After describing the capture of villages, including Combles, Gueudecourt and Thiepval, it proceeds:

"These victories brought our front line to more than one point within a mile of the German fourth positions west of the Bapaume-Transloy road."

The statement continues: "The enemy has fought stubbornly to check our advance, and since September 15 seven new divisions have been brought against us and five against the French. The severe and prolonged struggle demanded on the part of our troops shows very great determination and courage."

Situation Summarized.

"At the end of September the situation may be summarized as follows: Since the opening of the battle on July 1 we have taken 26,735 prisoners and engaged 38 German divisions, of which 29 (about 350,000 men) have been withdrawn exhausted or broken. We hold the half-moon upland south of the Ancre and every height of importance, and so have direct observation ground to the east and northeast. The enemy has fallen back upon a fourth line behind a low ridge just west of the Bapaume-Transloy road. "The importance of the three months' move is not to be judged by the distance advanced or the number of enemy trench lines taken. It must be looked for in the effect upon the enemy's strength in numbers, material and morale. The enemy has used up his reserves in repeated, costly and unsuccessful counter-attacks without causing our allies or ourselves to relax our steady, methodical pressure."

All Parts of Enemy.

"In this action troops from every part of the British Empire and British

SIR THOS. TAIT AND HELPERS TO MEET IN OTTAWA ON TUESDAY

Ottawa, Oct. 4.—Sir Thomas Tait, director-general of national service, who will have charge of the new plan to secure information in regard to the supply of men available for recruiting purposes, has called a meeting of his associate directors for Tuesday next in this city. The associate directors, of whom there is one for each military district, will formulate their plans and complete the central organization as a preliminary to commencing the work of gathering the information asked for by the government.

GEN. SIR DOUGLAS HAIG.

Isles have been engaged. All have behaved with the discipline and resolution of veterans.

"Our aircraft have shown in the highest degree the spirit of the offensive. They have patrolled regularly far behind the enemy's lines and have fought many battles in the air with hostile machines and many with enemy troops on the ground. For every enemy machine that succeeds in crossing our front it is safe to say that 200 of our machines cross the enemy's front."

BETHMANN-HOLLWEG IS IN DEEP WATER

People So Dissatisfied With Speech Reassembling of Reichstag Postponed

Amsterdam, Oct. 4.—The Lokal Anzeiger of Berlin says the resumption of the sittings of the Reichstag, adjourned after the delivery of Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg's speech until October 5, has been postponed until October 11.

Dissatisfaction.
London, Oct. 4.—Telegraphing from Amsterdam, the correspondent there of the Central News says:

"It is generally believed that the postponement of the reassembling of the Reichstag is due to dissatisfaction with the speech made by Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg. In the meantime strenuous efforts will be made to reconcile the people to the imperial chancellor's policy."

"A public mass meeting at Frankfurt adopted a resolution in favor of an early peace."

"The Vossische Zeitung says that Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg had a long conversation on October 1 with Prince von Buelow, the former chancellor."

TO FRENCH EMBASSY IN UNITED STATES

Paris, Oct. 4.—Commander Emmanuel Aubin de Planpre has been appointed naval attaché of the French embassy at Washington.

GERMAN TREACHERY ANGERS CANADIANS

Toronto Private Says Troops From Dominion Show No Mercy

Toronto, Oct. 4.—"We moved down to the Somme front from the Ypres salient around Sept. 1. We were straight to Albert and from there to the front on Friday, Sept. 15," reads an extract from a letter written by Pte. A. V. Trimble, a young soldier reported wounded on Sept. 23, to his father here. He goes on:

"It was a memorable day for the empire, and an extra memorable one for the Canadians, for on that day the new British offensive started with magnificent results and the Canadians played one of the biggest parts in it. And last, but not least, it marked the introduction of the most marvelous weapons of trench warfare ever used. (The armored motor cars.)"

After describing the bombardment and preliminary movements, Pte. Trimble's letter goes on:

"Our boys captured the town of Courcellette and the strong Mouquet farm. Altogether we advanced our line two miles and captured 4,000 prisoners. Our battalion alone took 700 prisoners, which is more men than we had when we went in."

In another part of the letter it is said: "Fritz is a dirty fighter, dad. He will hold up one hand and yell 'Kamrad' and with the other keep a machine gun working on you. As soon as he had done this a couple of times the fellows got real mad and showed him no mercy. It was their own fault, and in a case like that it is our lives or theirs, and we gave them a chance to fight fair."

BRITISH COMPLETE CONQUEST OF EAUCOURT L'ABBAYE; GAIN BY FRENCH BEYOND COMBLES

BRZEZANY WILL BE TAKEN BY RUSSIANS

Town Situated 50 Miles South-east of Lemberg is Under Bombardment

RUSSIANS CROSSED ZLOTA LIPA RIVER

London, Oct. 4.—After three days of incessant and furious fighting, the Russian forces are reported to have won a considerable advantage in their new drive on Lemberg from the south and to be threatening the important railroad town of Brzezany, 50 miles south-east of Lemberg.

Reuters' Petrograd correspondent says Russian forces, under cover of artillery fire, forced their way across the Zlota Lipa river south of Brzezany, driving the Austro-Hungarian forces from the heights. The Russian artillery then advanced and began a bombardment of camps, military establishments and suburbs of the town. Stubborn Battles.

Petrograd, Oct. 4.—Russian and Austro-German troops continue to fight stubborn battles in the region west of Bubnov. Near Chelov and Korytnia stubborn battles continue.

"On the river Yenikva and at the source of the Zlota Lipa (in Galicia) the enemy stubbornly holds his position," says an official report issued to-day.

"During the battles in the region of Dorna Watra (Roumanian frontier) our brave brigade commander, General Khronov, who participated in the campaigns of 1877 and 1904, was seriously wounded."

"On the rest of the front artillery and rifle fire is progressing at some points. "Caucasian front.—The situation is unchanged."

CAMPAIGN AGAINST BETHMANN-HOLLWEG

Latest Development in Germany is Pamphlet Demanding Retirement

Berlin, Oct. 3, via London, Oct. 4.—The campaign against Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg is daily assuming a more tangible form. A circular demanding retirement of the chancellor has been sent by a vociferous group of his opponents to such members of the Reichstag as are considered open to their arguments. Attacks are made on the chancellor's attempts to reach an agreement with Britain, his first attitude toward the neutrality of Belgium and his policy in the submarine issue. The only name of international prominence among the signers is that of Ernest Haackel, and the circular is regarded as symptomatic rather than serious.

Another factor which is disturbing the political situation is a breach of the political truce proclaimed at the outset of the war which has been made by the Saxon Socialists. Meanwhile the chancellor and the Reichstag leaders continue to discuss the points at issue behind closed doors on an even more confidential basis than before.

BRITISH RED CROSS STEAMER BLEW UP IN DOVER STRAIT

Paris, Oct. 4.—A British Red Cross steamer blew up on Sunday morning in the Strait of Dover, according to a Boulogne dispatch to the Figaro. The dispatch says news of the disaster was received by wireless but that details are lacking.

SAVED BY U. S. AND SPAIN.

Amsterdam, Oct. 4.—The Nieuwelle's correspondent at Maastricht says that as a result of a protest of the American and Spanish ministers at Brussels General von Bissing, the German governor-general of Belgium, has pardoned 22 Belgians who were sentenced to death last week on charges of spying. The correspondent adds that the prisoners include three women, two girls and the acting burgomaster of Namur.

Village North of Somme, Scene of Heavy Fighting, Now Entirely in Hands of British; Strong Line Between Morval and St. Pierre Vaast Wood Taken by General Foch's Men

London, Oct. 4.—The village of Eaucourt l'Abbaye, north of the Somme, for possession of which heavy fighting has been in progress for several days, is now entirely in the hands of the British forces. The war office announced to-day that the last of the enemy troops had been cleared out.

The text of the statement follows:

"The village of Eaucourt l'Abbaye has been cleared of the enemy and is entirely in our hands."

"During the night there was considerable shelling on our front south of the Ancre. Otherwise there was no change. A heavy rain has fallen since morning."

Gain by French.

Paris, Oct. 4.—French troops last night completed the capture of a strongly fortified line of German defences between Morval and the St. Pierre Vaast wood, north of the Somme, the war office announced this afternoon, taking about 300 prisoners.

"North of the Somme," the statement says, "we completed the capture of a powerful line of German trenches between Morval and the St. Pierre Vaast wood. We made about 300 prisoners, including 10 officers."

"South of the Somme there was a lively enemy bombardment of the region of Bello-en-Santerre."

"The night was quiet on the rest of the front."

"Bad weather interfered with aerial operations on the greater part of the front."

WRECKED RECRUITING TENT IN MONTREAL

Laval Students Made Themselves Obnoxious; Four Must Appear in Court

Montreal, Oct. 4.—Four students of Laval University were arrested this morning after they had thrown stones at a squad of policemen called out to quell a disturbance of a crowd of students was making, during which the young men tore down a recruiting tent and recruiting posters in Phillips Square.

The students stoned and fought the police reserves which were rushed to the scene. Several policemen were injured and a number of the students also carried away marks of the conflict.

In the course of a running fight the students made their way to Ste. Carine street, where they pulled trolley poles from the wires and made themselves generally obnoxious.

The four students arrested were liberated later on bail and will appear tomorrow to answer charges of disturbing the peace and damaging property.

WHEN SARRAIL GIVES WORD ARMY IN MACEDONIA WILL BEAR SHARE; WILL MOVE ON WITH IRRESISTIBLE FORCE

London, Oct. 4.—Marcel Hutin, says the operations which General Sarrail gave an order without first assuring himself, privately, that it met with the approval of the commanders of the various units, whereas the entente army, of the east has blind confidence in its commander, and obeys his slightest order with promptness and enthusiasm.

Reports from Athens suggest that once the danger of a stab in the back is removed, General Sarrail will be free to move.

General Sarrail's position is lucidly explained in a Salonica dispatch to the Manchester Guardian. The army under his supreme command is, in composition, the most extraordinary army ever united under a single general. The only precedent is the international expedition to China, under the command of Field Marshal von Waldersee, but the difference between that force and the one under General Sarrail is that the former had absolutely no homogeneity. Every section regarded the others with distrust to such an extent

Montreal, Oct. 4.—The death is announced from England of Capt. He acted in that capacity when the Prince of Wales, later King Edward VII., visited Canada in 1860, and became well known in this country. Later,

"Our offensive operations in the mountains have resulted in some successes. At the head of the Cimone-Brenta valley our troops, after climbing precipitous walls under enemy fire, succeeded in capturing the second peak of Col Bricon, southwest of the first peak, 2,840 metres high, which was already in our possession. "In Carnia, on the Upper But, our troops, after having by a turning movement cut off a high peak held by the Austrians, succeeded in reaching the summit at a height of 2,766 metres. The enemy left behind arms, munitions and war material."

AUSTRIAN ADMISSION.

Vienna, Oct. 4.—Terrific fighting on the Russian front, which resulted in the repulse of the Russians at all points was reported in an official statement issued last evening. On the Roumanian front a success for the Roumanians in Transylvania is admitted.

FRENCH TOOK TRENCH NORTH OF THE SOMME

Troops Gained Ground in Local Attack North of Rancourt

Paris, Oct. 4.—The following official statement was issued last night: "North of the Somme a local attack on both sides of the Peronne-Bapaume road placed us in possession of an important trench north of Rancourt. We made prisoner three officers and 120 men. "South of the river there was considerable trench gun and artillery activity at various points."

London, Oct. 4.—"Rain continued to fall heavily during the night and the early part of the day," said an official communication issued last night.

"The fighting at Eaucourt l'Abbaye is proceeding satisfactorily. Elsewhere, except for intermittent shelling, our front has been quiet."

"In the last twenty-four hours we have taken 61 prisoners. "The weather has interfered with the work of the aircraft. One of our machines is missing."

POINTS OCCUPIED BY SERBIANS AND FRENCH

Verbeni, Petorak and Hovio, Near West End of Salonica Front

Paris, Oct. 4.—The following official statement on operations on the front in Greek Macedonia was issued last night:

"As a result of the victorious actions fought by Serbian forces in the region of the Kaimakulan height, the Bulgarians have abandoned their positions on the Starovo-Grob and the Brod rivers, and appear to be retreating toward the north. Serbian forces have occupied Petorak and Verbeni. On the right wing allied forces have captured Janokov, east of the Struma."

London, Oct. 4.—The following official report was issued last night: "Yesterday Bulgarian troops counter-attacked with three battalions against our new positions on the east bank of the Struma, but were repulsed. One of our battalions then charged with the bayonet and routed the enemy, taking forty prisoners."

"Machines of the Royal Flying Corps carried out successful bombing attacks on troops in transport near Prosenik and a railroad train traveling from there to Sere."

THE ALLOTMENT OF CANADIAN WAR LOAN

Ottawa, Oct. 4.—The finance department has announced the principle which has been settled upon for the allotment of subscriptions to the war loan. The subscription of the chartered banks to the amount of $50,000,000, will not be accepted. This is in accordance with an understanding between Sir Thomas White and the banks that the subscriptions would be accepted only for such amounts as added to the sum subscribed for by the public would make up $100,000,000, the amount called for.

All public subscriptions up to and including $25,000 will be allotted in full. From $25,000 to and including $100,000, the first $25,000 will be allotted in full and 30 per cent. of the remainder will be allotted. From $100,000 to and including one million the first $25,000 will be accepted in full, 30 per cent. up to $100,000, and of the remainder 40 per cent. will be allotted.

In amounts in excess of $1,000,000 the first million will be treated as one million dollar subscription, and of the remainder, approximately 26 per cent. will be allotted. This will result in subscriptions from $25,000 to $100,000 being allotted an average of 58 per cent. of the sums subscribed, subscriptions of from $100,000 to $1,000,000 an average of 40 per cent., and subscriptions over $1,000,000 an average of 58 per cent. of the sums subscribed.

ROUMANIANS MOVING ON IN TRANSYLVANIA

Bucharest, Oct. 4.—The following official statement was issued last evening: "On the northern front, in Dobruja, our attacks continue over the whole front. The enemy is offering stubborn resistance. "In the Kisil valley the enemy is making isolated attacks. A violent attack is proceeding in the region of Mount Oborosa, near Petroseny, and the enemy is using asphyxiating gases. "We repulsed an enemy attack at Orsova. "On the Southern front, in Dobruja, our attacks continue over the whole front. The enemy is offering stubborn resistance."

AMERICANS WORKING TO AID ARMENIANS

Committee Asks $5,000,000 for Relief in Armenia, Palestine, Syria, Persia

Washington, Oct. 4.—The greatest American relief campaign to be undertaken since the organization of the Belgian relief commission was launched yesterday by the American committee for Armenian and Syrian relief. An exhaustive summary of the whole Armenian and Syrian situation was made public and will be sent to ministers of 120,000 churches throughout the country and to many leading citizens and relief organizations.

A fund of $5,000,000 is called for to relieve 1,000,000 destitute and starving Armenians and Syrians scattered broadcast over Turkey, Persia, Syria and Palestine. The appeal declares that of nearly 2,000,000 Armenians originally in their native country, three-quarters of a million have been massacred or have died of wounds, disease or exhaustion since the war began.

The state department, through urgent negotiations, recently secured Turkey's consent to an extension of American relief, provided it is distributed jointly by the American Red Cross and the Turkish Red Crescent. Yesterday it was announced that the allies' blockade has been lifted to allow passage of the supplies. October 21 and 22 have been set aside by proclamation of President Wilson as relief days, and the appeal being sent broadcast by the committee calls for sermons in every pulpit in the country and articles in every newspaper.

KING CONSTANTINE HAS MINISTERS' RESIGNATIONS

Athens, Oct. 4.—The resignations of all the cabinet ministers except the premier, Nicholas Kalogeropoulos, and the minister of foreign affairs, Alex. Andre Carapanos, now are in the hands of the king. The cabinet probably will be arranged so that several supporters of M. Venizelos, the former premier, will hold portfolios. Orders have been issued to the royalist newspapers to cease attacking M. Venizelos.

AN "OVERSEAS" ITEM.

Berlin, Oct. 4.—Thirty-five vessels of countries at war with Germany, with a total tonnage of 14,600, were sunk by German submarines in the North Sea or the English Channel between September 20 and 29, the Overseas News Agency announces. This is in addition to 11 British fishing steamers and four Belgian lighters, the sinking of which already had been reported. Twenty-seven of the 35 were fishing steamers. Thirty-one prisoners were brought in by submarines.

STATES HUMILIATED,
DECLARES HUGHESWilson Scored for His Weak Policy: Plain Words
by Roosevelt

New York, Oct. 4.—At the reception tendered Charles E. Hughes by the Union League Club last night, at which Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Taft were present, both the Republican presidential nominee and Mr. Roosevelt scored the policy of President Wilson and the stand taken by him over what was alluded to as murder on the high seas of American citizens by German submarine crews.

"We have heard in recent days," Mr. Hughes said in his address, "that the alternative of the policy of the present administration is war. I think the alternative of the policy of the present administration is peace with honor."

"We are not courting struggle, but I do say with all seriousness that we have been living in a period of national humiliation."

"Good," shouted Col. Roosevelt. "Our citizens have been murdered, their property destroyed and our commerce interrupted," Mr. Hughes added. "The alternative of a weak and vacillating policy is not war; it is a firm insistence upon known rights in a world where all nations desire the friendship of all, and where only the most inexcusable blundering could drag us into strife."

Roosevelt's Speech.

To cries of "Teddy, Teddy, Teddy," Col. Roosevelt ascended the platform at the close of Mr. Hughes' address. "No man has a right to claim spiritual kinship with Abraham Lincoln if he is too proud to fight," Col. Roosevelt said. "Fifty odd years ago there were men in this country who were too proud to fight, but they were not found in this club and they did not vote for Abraham Lincoln. Fifty odd years ago there were men in the nation who were too proud to fight the foe of the nation, but they were perfectly willing to fight the police and the draft detachments.

"And now in the greatest crisis that we have seen since the Civil War, in the greatest crisis of the world as a whole that world has seen since the Napoleonic wars, it is our duty and privilege to stand once more for the principles for which the men of the early Sixties who founded this club stood—to stand for peace, honesty and sincerity by every honorable expedient, but to stand for it in that effective way which means that the standing for it asks it as a right, in the spirit of justice, and does not cringe for it as a favor to be granted contemptuously by a wrongdoer."

"I believe that on the whole the Gettysburg speech and the second inaugural were the two greatest speeches ever delivered. If, after the Gettysburg speech, Abraham Lincoln had appointed a conference of the type now sitting at Atlantic City we would not think of the Gettysburg speech except with bitterness or laughter. If, after the second inaugural, Abraham Lincoln had sanctioned the retention of slavery in any form in this nation, we should hang our heads whenever we thought of that inaugural or of Abraham Lincoln himself. We have a right now to ask the men of this country to decide in the spirit of the men who in 1864 returned Abraham Lincoln to the presidency."

Wilson's Blunder.

"Mr. Hughes has alluded to Mr. Wilson's speech on Saturday in which he said in effect that if you do not re-elect him the country may have war. That is substantially what he said, and the inference is that if he were there, there will not be any war, it being left to be inferred by the outside world that nobody can insult him so that he will fight.

At this moment we are informed that in the German reichstag there is a debate going forward as to whether or not they will resume what they call the U-boat warfare—what I call murder on the high seas of men, women and children. You can guarantee that there would be no debate on that subject if they knew that they had as president of the United States a man who would not tolerate any kind of action of that sort.

"Mr. Wilson's speech last Saturday was an invitation to foreign powers to do whatever they wished, because if he were in power they need not be afraid."

OVER TO FRANCE IN BRITISH AEROPLANECorrespondent Describes Voyage; Steady Stream of Machines to Front

With the British Armies in France, Oct. 2, via London, Oct. 4.—Never were such numbers of aeroplanes employed and never did they play such an important part as in the battle of the Somme. The wastage of British planes at the front has been supplied by new planes flown across the Channel from England, where, after coming from the factory, they are tested out at a home aerodrome. The record time in crossing the Channel at the narrowest point, where the distance is 22 miles, is eight minutes.

When the Associated Press correspondent who is attached to the British forces on this front and who was in London for a day's leave from the front, asked a certain general at the war office for permission to fly back instead of going by steamer, train and automobile, the answer was: "Perfectly easy," and to prove it he called up the commander of the flying corps and in five minutes all had been arranged over the telephone.

"What about my baggage?" asked the correspondent.

"Oh, take it along and strap it on," replied the general. "A plane that carries 150 pounds of bombs will not be bothered with a suitcase."

Dozen Ready.

A dozen machines, one after another, were due to go to France that day as soon as the wire said a storm on the other side of the Channel had passed. The correspondent slipped into a wadded jacket for protection against the wind which also would act as a life buoy if he fell into the Channel, and took his place, a position usually occupied by the observer, who also mans a machine gun.

"She's a good steady bug," said the pilot. "They flew her down from the factory three days ago and she's tuned up and ready for her part in the big show on the other side. You must not expect any fancy stunts or thrills. My business is to fly her to France and deliver her in good condition, ready for work."

This pilot has made thirty such crossings and was proud of the fact that he had never come down at any of the way stations. Before the war he had been ranching in South Africa and was one of the thousands of men who knew nothing about flying, but who have become expert aviators.

After forty minutes of unvarying steadiness of speed above the pattern work of English hedges, he turned for the Channel crossing. On account of thick weather he took the Channel trip at a height of 4,000 feet. As the white lacework of surf beat against the chalk just underfoot, the correspondent looked at his watch. Neither the shore nor the surface of the water was to be seen. Then the pilot stopped the engine and until the sea floor, dotted with the white flecks of wave crests, appeared, and ahead, as the engine took up its refrain again, was the white edging of the surf at the foot of the chalk cliffs of France.

Seventeen Minutes.

As the machine crossed that tape the correspondent looked again at his watch and saw that the time elapsed was 17 minutes. The flight had not been made over the narrow part of the Channel. The fastest steamer would have required an hour and a quarter.

Now for the broad spaces of the hedged lands of France, with the fields like so many patchwork squares stretching between soft green clumps of woods, and on toward the front and the battle-line. Then, finally, over a cathedral tower and down on the green floor of an aerodrome where a score of other planes, fresh from England, had been marshalled in ranks after their arrival.

"Good night," said the pilot after he had reported his arrival to the aerodrome officer, "I am off to catch the steamer and bring another bus tomorrow."

TRENCHES IN FRANCE

It has been proposed to select on the field of remarkable exploits sections of trenches and field works best characteristic of the trench warfare, and maintain them in their present condition, through an arrangement between the owners of the land and the government.

Mexico City, Oct. 4.—Colonel Juan Barragan, chief of staff to General Carranza, will accompany Eliseo Arredondo, ambassador-designate to the United States, on the latter's return to Washington. According to government officials, Col. Barragan merely intends to take a vacation.

High government officials deny a story sent out from El Paso that General Carranza was contemplating sending an ultimatum to the United States demanding the withdrawal of Brigadier General Pershing's troops from Mexico.

A GERMAN CLAIM.

Berlin, Oct. 4.—The admiralty made the following announcement to-day:

Acid Stomachs Are
DangerousNine-Tenths of All Stomach Troubles
Due to Acidity Says New York
Physician.

A well-known New York physician who has made a special study of stomach and intestinal diseases recently made an interesting statement that nearly all intestinal trouble as well as many diseases of the vital organs, are directly traceable to excessive stomach acidity commonly termed sour stomach or heartburn which not only irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach, but may often cause gastritis and dangerous stomach ulcers.

Neglect, he says, commonly initiates chronic super-acidity, and is the principal cause for the indiscriminate swallowing of the various so-called patent digestive aids which bring only temporary relief and false relief.

In an acid condition of the stomach no artificial digestives whatever should be employed as these are likely to merely pass the sour, burning acid on into the intestines, causing serious trouble. Instead he recommends the use of a simple, harmless and inexpensive antacid such as a teaspoonful of bisulphate of magnesia, taken with a little hot or cold water right after meals or whenever distress is felt.

This simple remedy in just a few seconds from its entering the stomach neutralises or sweetens all its sour acid contents. Dissolve the dangerous acidity and there will be no need for medicine as all symptoms of indigestion will promptly cease. Sufferers from acidity, sour stomach or indigestion should get a few ounces of the pure bisulphate of magnesia for trial. In view, however, of the many varieties of magnesia used for various purposes, stomach sufferers should be careful to get it only in the bisulphate form (either powder or tablets) and in a sealed package to insure its purity.

YOU NEED SOMETHING!SIR HERBERT AMES IS TO SPEAK AT DUNCANSecretary of Canadian Patriotic Fund Will Deliver Address on October 25

Duncan, Oct. 4.—Sir Herbert Ames, national secretary of the Canadian Patriotic Fund, has accepted the invitation of the Cowichan branch of the society to come to Duncan and address a public meeting on the occasion of his western tour during the current month. Sir Herbert has set October 25 as the date of his meeting in Duncan.

At a Board of Trade meeting here it was decided to lodge a vigorous protest with the Dominion fisheries department against the commercial fishing by Japanese in the waters of Crofton and Maple Bay. Recently a large number of Japanese fishermen have been netting these waters, as well as the Sansome Narrows, with the result, it is stated, that the salmon fishing has suffered extremely. The department will be asked to close these waters to commercial fishing entirely.

It also was decided by the board to ask the Dominion authorities to establish an internment camp for enemy aliens in this district, and to make use of the services of these men in prosecuting useful public works. It was suggested that the clearing out and deepening of the waterways from Somenos Lake to the Cowichan River is a work in which these men might be profitably employed. It is claimed that the completion of this work would result in the reclaiming of more than 1,000 acres of marsh land which is at present unfruitful.

The board will co-operate with the Cowichan Utility Poultry Association in an endeavor to secure the convention of the B. C. Poultry Association for Duncan next year. As it is five years since this association has met on Vancouver Island, it is felt that Duncan has a better claim than Kamloops, which also is making a strong bid for next year's meet. Cowichan claims to be the premier poultry district of the province, there being shipped from Duncan alone last year over $100,000 worth of eggs and dressed poultry. If Duncan be successful in securing the poultry association fair for next year, it would mean the presence here of about 70 delegates from all parts of the province for the duration of the poultry fair, which lasts a week, the exhibits as a rule running to about 1,500 coops.

At a meeting held here it was decided to petition the provincial government to sanction the incorporation of a Children's Aid Society for this district.

The hockey club has reorganized for the winter months.

MUST PAY IN FULL.

Lord Bryce disapproves of the proposal that the allies launch a trade war against Germany when the armed conflict is over on the ground that it would perpetuate race hatred and engender another outbreak. Whether that proposal will become a settled policy or not, however, must depend upon developments still in the air. Certainly it would seem that if the allies adhere to the decision originally reached and frequently expressed by their statesmen, a decision dictated by duty to civilization, Germany never again will be able to use her trade expansion as a wheel of her war chariot.

If Germany be compelled to make good the damage wrought by her in Belgium, France, Poland and Serbia, as well as on the sea, to the "uttermost farthing," she will be crippled for many years. Her indemnities to France and Belgium alone must reach many billions; every additional belligerent will have a bill against her, and before this war has ended the roll of warring nations may be considerably extended. Her mercantile marine should be reduced to negligible proportions, if, indeed, it is not wiped out altogether, for every merchant ship belonging to the allies sunk by a German submarine contrary to the rules governing war at sea should be replaced with a German ship. These are some of the terms the allies should exact, not in the spirit of revenge, but in justice to the victims of Germany's unparalleled crimes and as part of the punishment she should suffer, a punishment so complete and drastic that it will discourage would-be war lords for many generations, if not for ever.

If misplaced magnanimity and other considerations mitigate the severity of the allies' demands in respect of indemnities or leave Hohenzollernism in the saddle with its satellites unpunished, the sacrifices they have made in blood and treasure will have been in vain. There may be secessionaries in the allied camps who, while desirous of seeing Germany overthrown, might be averse to unseating a dynasty and its accessories in the fear that it might give too healthy a stimulus to republicanism elsewhere and remove a plausible excuse for militarism. Fortunately, this is a people's war as far as the allies are concerned. It is a war for the existence of democratic institutions, and we may safely assume that public sentiment will have a great deal to do with the moulding of policy in regard to peace terms.

ANOTHER SEA FIGHT?

A neutral diplomat at Washington is reported to have stated that according to information received from his government there will be another terrific naval engagement in the North Sea before winter, which the Germans will precipitate. In his opinion the German action will be due to the pressure of public opinion at home, depressed over the unfavorable military situation on the main fronts.

If another "terrific" naval engagement takes place, it will not be "precipitated" by the German fleet, for the very sound reason that the German admiralty realizes the narrow escape of its navy from annihilation last summer. It knows very well what would happen if the rival navies ever came to grips at any considerable distance from German waters. It has not yet been able to replace the serious losses it sustained in the Jutland fight, while the British navy is substantially stronger than it was then.

A well-known German novelist has issued advance copies of a book containing an account of conversations he had with Prince Henry of Prussia, the Kaiser's brother, and Admiral von Scheer, who commanded the German High Sea fleet, in the Jutland fight.

He reports von Scheer as saying, "We cannot destroy the English fleet, nor was it ever our aim to do so. Our aim, as I see it, is to punish the English so severely that they will leave us in peace. In this task help from above will not be wanting." Apparently after the battle of Jutland the German navy annexed the "good old German God," formerly the exclusive ally of the army. It will be noted, however, that von Scheer appreciates the impossibility of defeating the British navy, and that being the case, we may take it for granted that the Germans will not "precipitate" another "terrific" engagement. Should such a battle occur, it will be because the enemy has been manoeuvred into a position from which he cannot run away.

The author of these conversations reveals a cynically sceptical state of mind in the Berliners towards the official communications of the German admiralty which is surprising. He says that when he returned to the "flabby capital" after congratulating the "victors" at Wilhelmshaven, the first question put to him was, "Who really won in the North Sea, we or the English?" He answered the question with a curse. "Two days later," he says, "came the second report of the admiralty staff, in which the loss of the Lutzow and Rostock was announced. 'You see, people said to me, something was kept back. Evidently the English were right in saying we abandoned the field of battle.'"

The author then indulges in this bitter but amusing comment: "And so the legend increases and the German Michael once more stands speechless before the elegant, up-to-date trousers of John Bull and his gift of boasting. He allows John Bull to swagger across the stage of the world, the honestest man alive, while he, Michael, totters as an old sinner simply because the German admiralty staff, because of good reasons, had not at first admitted everything."

THE RIVAL POLICIES.

The administration forces in the presidential election in the United States are now countering the Republican attacks upon the Wilson foreign policy by describing their opponents as the "war party." They declare that if Hughes is elected the country will be embroiled in the European war, whereas if Wilson be returned it will not be. To this Mr. Hughes very aptly retorts that the objective of his party's foreign policy is "peace with honor," as opposed to a policy of peace-at-any-price. The distinction is certainly very clear-cut. More than that, history, including the history of the United States, shows that a policy of peace with honor makes for peace, while one of peace-at-any-price invites war.

Had the British empire adopted the policy of peace-at-any-price in this war, as surely as the sun shines it would have had to fight Germany alone. The man who thinks otherwise ought to be in an asylum, for the final objective of Germany's military policy was the overthrow of the British empire. Germany struck at France and Russia in 1914 because she thought she had them at a disadvantage. Had she herself and Austria been as well prepared in 1911 she would have precipitated war then. Germany's decision was inspired by her conception of the relative weakness of her neighbors. What a picnic she would have had if Russia and France had been controlled by men like Bryan and Henry Ford.

PATRONAGE.

A contemporary accuses the Toronto Globe of slandering the province in charging that for more than a decade the province has been ruthlessly plundered by the disciples of the patronage system. This is no slander. It is a statement of fact and the electorate of British Columbia in the greatest political revolution, perhaps, in the history of the Dominion have shown conclusively that they believe it to be true. The patronage system has been the curse of this country; over which its tentacles spread in all directions. It operated in every branch of the provincial service, and its managers, not satisfied with that, extended it to school boards, licensing boards, police commissioners and municipal councils. It supported an army of political favorites high and low whom it rewarded with public resources, subsidies and enormously profitable commissions at the public expense. It fed a battery of newspapers, which were required to advocate or defend every onslaught upon the public interest on the part of those behind the system. In the outlying districts it was positively brutal in its methods, so much so that in the very constituencies in which it was supposed to be strong and which the government reckoned to be safe for their candidates, the settlers, Liberal and Conservative alike, fought together for its overthrow. Patronage is the main stock-in-trade of the political machine. Indeed, without it there can be no machine. And it is, of course, the very negation of sound business. In this province it has been nothing less than a system of calculated plunder, a potlatch with other people's property. That is what an overwhelming majority of the people of British Columbia discovered it to be from bitter experience.

As a sample of the stuff the Huns are fed on, read the following reprinting from the Magdeburgische Zeitung regarding the effects and results of Zeppelin raids: "Not even the night of horror of April 26 was so terrible as the last two attacks. A London doctor states that the Germans have established a record both in destruction and in creating such a state of nerves that if you tell a man that the Zeppelins have so far destroyed 1,000 lives he will reply that he is afraid the next raid will destroy two or three times as many. Sanatoria and lunatic asylums are overfilled, and after each attack the number of lunatics increases. Rumor puts the loss of life in the attack on August 1 at 6,000, and in the attack on August 3 at 15,000. The greatest part of the damage was done in the district between Charing Cross and Waterloo Bridge. Somerset House and the Strand and the Tower Bridge district and the Custom House also suffered. Charing Cross station is still for the most part closed. People used to mock at the idea of reprisals for the Baralong, but now the Baralong hangs over the householders' head like a sword of Damocles."

Philadelphia Ledger: The war bride has the harder lot, for the torture of uncertainty is hers, the waiting in suspense for what the reverent nights and days in the trenches may bring. The man in action may lose his life but once, and she, like the apostle of old, dies daily, for a woman largely lives in her sympathetic imagination. But no truer words have been uttered in the discussion than these: "If the war bride of four days were asked, 'Would you rather be spared all this and have your husband safely at home?' she would answer 'No,' and mean it with all her heart." For her heroism is as steadfast to endure all things as that of the man she loves.

According to a London dispatch one of the results of Sir Sam Hughes's trip to England will be the appointment of his brother, Major General John Hughes, as commandant at Shorncliffe. How time flies! It seems hardly more than yesterday when this officer was a plain civilian. But why should any member of the Hughes family be less than a major general, anyway? There can be no doubt, however, that the London Daily Mail was correct when it said that Sir Sam was keeping Canada in the limelight in England!

Von Hindenburg, approaching the allotted span of three score years and ten, is expected to accomplish miracles for the relief of the Germans from the strangling iron ring of the allies. The Huns have idealized the square head of their idol, but within the past few years, many "Hun" "supermen" have fallen from pedestals upon which they had been set by the Teutonic imagination. Von Hindenburg has not the forces at his command he had when he began his first great drive against the Russians, and there is a stronger and better equipped army facing him.

President Wilson's strong plea to the electors of the United States is that he "has kept his country out of the war." The All-Highest also has kept most of Germany out of the war for the time being, but he has not kept the Germans out of it. Nor has the president of the United States kept Americans out of the war. Over a hundred of them were killed when the Lusitania was torpedoed without warning, many more were blown to pieces on their own soil, and so far the murderers have not been held to "strict accountability."

Sir Douglas Haig reports that for every German aeroplane that crosses the allied line two hundred British and French machines cross the German line. This is a striking demonstration of the absolute ascendancy the allies have in the air. Some six months ago the London Daily Mail "viewed with alarm" the progress made by the Germans in aerial warfare, just as it viewed with alarm the 12-inch gun on the Hindenburg which existed only in its mind's eye.

A correspondent points out that the machine was not altogether smashed in the recent election. This is true: the federal wing is still intact. Nevertheless, it is very shaky, for it knows the public has found it out and is determined to get rid of it. The major part of the works, however, is in ruins. Soon only a greasy smudge will mark the place on which it stood.

Hon. Alex. Stewart says the Brewster government will find itself "with a big job on its hands, the biggest it ever tackled." Quite so, as the Finance Minister has the best of reasons for saying, but is the statement complimentary to the government which "lags superfluous on the stage?"

Henri Bourassa continues to assail Great Britain, coupling her name with Sir Wilfrid Laurier, which probably accounts for the reluctance of the Borden government to take measures for the effective tugging of the Quebec incendiary.

The dash and bravery with which that French-Canadian regiment took Courcellette must have made Henri Bourassa grit his teeth with rage. Before this war is over Henri will have qualified for a strait-jacket.

The mayor remarks that Mr. Brewster has a big job on his hands. He has. There is a fearful mess to be cleaned up. Fortunately it will be easily located.

of tons of food, munitions and war stores of every kind. No advance was possible until the base had been prepared for all emergencies. The fighting line had to be rearranged with the arrival of each contingent, so that the latter would be placed with its proper unit.

Gen. Sarrail also was confronted with problems of a political character. He was justified in regarding the Greek army with the gravest distrust. The military operations had to be subordinated to the political situation, and await its settlement.

Meanwhile, hundreds of miles of new roads have been built in Greek Macedonia, a country almost without roads, where it would have been impossible to manoeuvre an immense army and keep it supplied with food and munitions with the previously existing means of communication. All

PRETTY WEDDING.

Miss E. R. V. Yeo and Mr. William D.

Tedd Married Here Last Evening.

A very pretty wedding took place on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the Metropolitan Methodist church when

Edith Rosina Victoria, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Yeo, 917 Green street, and Mr. William David Tedd were united in marriage.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion, the pulpit and altar being a mass of mauve and white chrysanthemums and autumn foliage. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H.

S. Osborne. The bride entered the church leaning on the arm of her father, who gave her away. She was dressed in white tulle and silk crepe de chine, made bouffant style, with a deep girdle of tulle and a bodice of silk Georgette crepe. Her veil was of tulle, arranged coronet style with orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses, car-na-tions, and sweet peas. Her only ornament was a gold wrist watch, the gift of the groom. Miss Ethel Todd, a relative of the bride, made a charming looking bridesmaid, her frock being of pink paillette silk with overdress of chiffon edged with black baby ribbon velvet. With this was worn a poke bonnet of pink velvet with a sheer crown of chiffon, and she carried a shower bouquet of pink carnations and sweet peas. The best man was Mr. Newton Penman, Mr. Edward Parsons presided at the organ.

Lohengrin as the bride entered the church, and Mendelssohn's Wedding

March as the bridal party were leaving. Just before the ceremony commenced Miss Rowena Barker sang "O

Promise Me."

Later a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 917 Green street, hosts of relatives and friends gathered to offer congratulations and best wishes to the young couple. The reception room and dining room were tastefully ornamented with chrysanthemums, asters, and sweet peas, autumn foliage being effectively introduced as well.

Mr. and Mrs. Todd, who were the recipients of many handsome presents left on the midnight boat for Vancouver, and from there will proceed to visit Seattle and other coast cities. The bride's going away costume was a smartly tailored military suit of navy blue serge trimmed with black fox, her hat being a chic French model of white velvet trimmed with wings. On their return to town Mr. and Mrs. Todd will take up their residence at 2347 Green street. The bridegroom's gift to the bridesmaid was a gold pin-set with pearls. The bride and bridegroom received many handsome gifts.

PROGRAMME AT FAIR.

This evening—Vaudeville entertainments at 8 and 9 o'clock.

To-morrow "Nansimo Day"—

Vaudeville entertainments in evening at 8 and 9 o'clock.

The attendance at the Home Products Fair was twice as large yesterday as on Monday. There were 2,700 paid admissions, and in the evening alone 1,699 were present. To-day,

Sa-nich Day, people began to come at 8 a.m. and continued to pour in until the time of going to press. Everyone was delighted with the exhibits and pleased with the entertainment. Comments of approval were heard everywhere, and business was done by the merchants which made them happy.

Discussing the event, F. Westley

Newton, secretary of the Victoria branch of the Manufacturers' Association, said: "We are well satisfied with the result of the fair so far. The attendance has been excellent, and the exhibits, which are first rate, have been appreciated. We have been the recipients of showers of congratulations from people who do not realize that such a creditable showing could be made.

"The fame of the fair has spread to Vancouver, and as a result we have just received word that J. A. Cunningham, president, and Jas. Hart, secretary of the Manufacturers' Association, are coming over to see the show and confer with the officials. The fair is being talked of everywhere, and naturally we are delighted with the result. It is good for business, and it provides a pleasant relaxation for the people who enjoy the social aspect of the event. I think it will have the effect of strengthening the local organization of the manufacturers. It was good last night to see so many people out enjoying themselves and at the same time boosting for a good cause."

Mr. Rines, manager of the Western Pickle Works, said that they had secured a good deal of business as a result of the two days already past.

AT THE THEATRES

ROYAL VICTORIA.

Miss Helen Tiffany, who is cast in "The Family Stain," another William Fox masterpiece, produced by William S. Davis, which is the attraction at the Royal Victoria for the last time tonight, has had an unusually distinguished career on the legitimate stage. Miss Tiffany has played parts with De Wolfe Hopper, Montgomery & Stone, in "The Candy Shop," and many other big Broadway successes. She left the legitimate stage a few months ago to appear on the screen, and declares that she is so much in love with the work, that she doesn't intend to return to the legitimate ever again.

On the same programme is also shown a very funny comedy, and a News Gazette with the latest news in views.

VARIETY THEATRE.

When lovers meet and woo and wed do the silly geese think that they are determining their own fate? Do the swains believe that they are so handsome that the girls cannot resist them and do the lassies think that it is their laughing black eyes and saucy smiles that lure the men to propose? Then they ought to pause in their laughter some night and they might catch a faint whisper behind them. It is the fairies discussing whether or not they are suited to each other! If the fairies decide that they are ill-mated, they will quarrel and part. If they seem to the little eavesdroppers to be ideally matched, then they will kiss.

That, at least, is what the little Lady Eileen firmly believes in the Famous Players production of that name in which Marguerite Clark is starring at the Variety theatre. For Eileen is Irish, with all the rare charm and all the imaginative gifts of the Irish—and she believes in the fairies with all her heart and soul.

And, why shouldn't she? If it were not for them how would she ever have found her true love and how would she ever have been rescued from the drunken impostor who married her for her money when she never knew she had any herself? Only the good fairies could have brought big Stanley Churchill to her when she never knew that he existed and only the elf of the air could have rolled the giant boulder down upon his fleeing brother as he galloped away in cowardly fear that he had nearly killed Stanley for rescuing the cringing Eileen.

So it is only natural and right that Eileen should offer prayers of thanks to the fairies for all her happiness and for her safe deliverance from misery now that she and Stanley are "living happily ever after." And it is only natural and right that the irresistible little Marguerite Clark should bring little Lady Eileen into existence on the screen, as she proves by her exquisite interpretation of the character of this happy, mischievous, charming Irish girl. The supporting cast includes Maggie Halloway, Fisher, Vernon Steele, John L. Shine, Harry Lee and Russell Bassett.

MISS EVA SHIRLEY

At Pantages this week.

PANTAGES THEATRE.

One of the very bright spots on Pantages theatre bill this week is the offering of Miss Eva Shirley. She pleases immensely with some song selections which vary from grand opera to the latest from the Hawaiian islands. But Miss Shirley had an interesting career before she discovered that she had a voice.

"I was born in a circus in the city of New York," she says, "and, up till a very few years ago, I spent my life in the sawdust arena. Before I was seven years of age I was doing Russian dancing in the Hagenback-Wallace shows, and from the time I was seven until I was 10 they had me advertised as the 'wonderful child bareback rider.' Those were great days for me, and everyone said my future looked fine until one day I fell and hurt myself so severely that I was on the crippled list for some time.

"By the time I was well, I had learned how to sing, and then, when I couldn't stay idle any longer, they put me to work singing with the band in the concert after the big show was over. Shortly after this our family went over to the Sells-Floto show, where I continued to do the same kind of work.

"After touring the Orpheum circuit, I went to Europe for an engagement, and was playing at the London Pavilion and the Hippodrome when the war was declared. Frightened to death I was eight weeks trying to get back, and finally was glad to take passage in the steamer. Since that time I have been playing vaudeville engagements in the east.

A very entertaining vaudeville programme is now holding the boards at the Pantages, headed by Long Tack Sam and his company of Chinese wonders. Long Tack Sam is a performer in every way, his personality and showmanship are equal to the best ever seen in the varieties. The number presented by these clever artists consists of contortions, acrobatics, plate spinning, magic, mysticism, singing, comedy and a little of everything that goes to make this act a whole show in itself.

Keno and Green present a comedy skit entitled "All Life and Action," which is a melange of dancing, singing and patter; there is something doing all the time that this clever pair are on the stage.

Dooley and Nelson entertain with comedy and dancing that is distinctly different. They are one of the hits of the bill.

Gaylord and Lancton, "two corking girls," offer a comedy number introducing dancing, singing and comedy; the dressing room scene showing how performers take off cork is interesting. Willis, Gilbert and Co. in "The Masked Frolic" have a combination of comedy, acrobatic and instrumental, which pleases.

Another Charlie Chaplin comedy opens the bill to the delight of everyone who has seen the film.

With pathetic tears on her cheeks, little Ethel ran up to a big, stalwart policeman. "P-p-please, sir," she sobbed, "will you come and look a bad man up?" "What's he been doing?" asked the man in blue, gently. "Oh—boo—boo," wailed Ethel; "he's broken up my hoop wif 'n' nasty bicycle." "Has he?" replied the bobby, angrily, as he saw her tears flow afresh. "Where is he?" "Oh, you'll easily catch 'im," said Ethel, drying her tears. "They've just carried 'im into that chemist's shop on a shutter."

Mr. Gowrie is a civil engineer, constructing buildings and bridges near Calcutta, and says that industries that before the war were considered as unnecessary because of the easy transportation of material have sprung up and are flourishing. "India is manufacturing as never before, and in my work they are getting out steel girders that were previously imported, to a large extent, from Germany, through the native Indian merchants. There are munitions factories everywhere." On his journey to Ottawa, where he has relatives, Mr. Gowrie came through the war zone, both in France and on the Mediterranean.

PERSONALS.

Well-known Women.

Chatham, Ont.—"I was sick for about four years. Got very weak, could not eat to amount to anything. I got very thin and had no strength at all. I was very much discouraged at times—thought I was never going to get better. I could not walk a block without feeling all tired-out. I took different medicines but did not get the help I needed. A friend of mine advised me to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I began to take it with the 'Pleasant Pellets' and by the time I had taken two bottles I was well on the road to recovery, and in six months I was entirely well. My appetite came back and I gained in flesh. Now I am as strong and healthy as any one could wish to be. I owe it all to Dr. Pierce's medicines and I am glad of the opportunity to give testimony in their favor; they have done wonders for me."—Miss THELMA PARKER, 141 E. King St.

Chatham, Ont.—"I have taken Dr. Pierce's medicine with good results. I was weak and run down, lost my appetite and got very thin. I took 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Pleasant Pellets' and these two medicines built me up in a very short space of time so that I felt as well as ever. I found them to be all that is recommended of them; they are good."—Mrs. Wm. WENDE, Cor. Taylor & Grand Aves., E. Chatham, Ont.

LOGANBERRY JUICE

MAY CARRY GOLD

James Fullerton, of Oregon, Speaks at Fair on Opportunity for Victoria Farmers

"It gives me great pleasure to have the privilege to address a gathering of my fellow-countrymen, for although I am living in the United States and have taken out naturalization papers, I volunteered to come back to the colors when war was declared. I am British to the core," said James Fullerton, of the Pleasant Fruit Juice Co., Salem, Ore., in addressing a meeting of fruitgrowers at the Home Products Fair this afternoon.

Mr. Fullerton's subject was "What the Loganberry will do for Victoria," and by means of a few simple figures he demonstrated that the growing of this fruit could be made the source of a thriving agricultural industry which would encourage settlement of Vancouver Island and give substantial foundation to progress. He acknowledged that his statements might appear extravagant, but backed up everything that he said by quoting his actual experience as a berry-grower in the Willamette Valley, Oregon.

"There is no reason why Vancouver Island should not reap just as good a harvest as we in Willamette have had if the people have only faith, get up, and stick-to-itiveness," he continued. "There is no business to-day that pays as well as the loganberry industry. While offering such absolute security it requires less labor, takes less time to bring returns, and when they begin to come in there is no such thing as failure of crop."

History of the Berry.

Mr. Fullerton told something of the history of the berry, which was a cross of wild blackberry and the cultivated raspberry effected by Judge Logan, of Santa Cruz, about 33 years ago. Burbank had improved it by crossing again with the blackberry. The fruit contained, Mr. Fullerton asserted, 40 per cent. of sugar. This chemical analysis has shown. It was possible by too great heat to seal that sugar up. On the other hand, if properly neutralized, the sugar became emulsified and gave a much finer flavor to the juice.

"The loganberry industry is a sound thing," said Mr. Fullerton, who compared it to an ordinary land boom to the detriment of the latter. The loganberry industry gave employment. The product was easily sold for cash. Every acre of loganberries added real wealth to the community.

"No town can thrive when it goes ahead of the country tributary to it," averred the speaker. "Nothing will develop the country faster than this berry. I do not know if you have any record of the crops round Victoria, but four to five tons is considered a fair crop with us, and a great many have made long contracts for years at $60 per ton to deliver at the fruit factories. I think $70 a fairer price. It is no longer an experiment, and in going into it you are not taking any risks for the demand for the juice is so great and increasing so rapidly that this generation will never catch up. You of British Columbia have all Canada for a market for we cannot pay 30 per cent. duty and compete with you."

Mr. Fullerton gave figures. Ten thousand acres adjoining Victoria with a guarantee of $70 per ton and only four tons yield to the acre would mean that the farmers among them would get $2,800,000. It would be preferable to have one thousand 10-acre tracts to larger tracts. Ten acres would produce 40 tons, worth $2,800, at a cost for picking, cultivating and trimming the vines of $1,000. If there were 1,000 families adjoining Victoria with homes of their own and a net income of $1,800 as well as most of their living off the place and the part of that $1,000 that they had earned themselves Victoria would have another boom, a boom the bottom would not fall out of.

"But in order to make the berry-growing a success you must have a factory to take the produce and pay cash for it. At first you would have but few berries, but in two years with the incentive of $70 a ton a large acreage would be planted and by the factory contracting to take all as planted when it came into bearing there would be no danger from opposition." The factory to start with, Mr. Fullerton pointed out, need not be a costly affair, and the officers of the company should not be looking for big salaries till big returns came in.

The juice is in large demand. He had recently visited Denver and St. Paul and Minneapolis and found the demand far exceeding the supply everywhere. The same would apply in eastern Canada. The minute people had a chance to taste it, a ton of berries would make from 175 to 200 gallons, leaving 400 pounds of pumice. All the products must be used. The factories in Oregon had not yet made use of the pumice.

"But," went on Mr. Fullerton humorously, "it can easily be saved and made into candy, jelly, jams, etc., and the seeds, through a small item, will make chlorine gas to choke the Germans."

It was claimed that everywhere loganberry juice outdid any other fruit juice. The only trouble was that the manufacture did not keep pace with the demand.

Cost of Manufacture.

Mr. Fullerton gave the prices of two grades of plants for the manufacture of the juice. A small plant with a 2,000 gallon-a-day output would require a hydraulic press costing $300; equipment: 2 doz. camel hair cloths, $4; 20-gallon vacuum pan and pump, $110; boiler (10 h.p.), $170; Illinois mixer, $75; emulsifier, $25; Knapp labelling machine, $400; capping machine, $35; pipe, $25; total, $1,144. This machine would take the output of 120 acres, estimated at $9,000 gallons, 40 days' picking and pressing, about cleans up the season. These were American prices on which must be added 10 per cent. machinery duty and 7 per cent. war duty. The large plant, with a capacity of 40 tons a day, would cost $2,623.75 f.o.b. San Francisco.

A car of juice, he explained, 12,000 gallons, would sell for $24,000 to $25,000. The day it was bottled it was ready for the market. Even taking a low average of 150 gallons to the ton, the wholesale price per gallon at $2, and there was $300, less $70 to the farmer, for manufacture, advertising, office and profits. With all the waste and blunders of inexperience up to now the profits put any other business in the shade.

"By installing a vacuum pan it will be easily possible to so concentrate the juice that it can be sent to Europe and diluted 30 times on arrival. It can, if properly neutralized, be sent in tin cans and save the cost of bottles here as well as packing closer and measuring less tons," it was explained.

Picking was the heavy item. This cost $20 a ton, but it gave employment to many families. A ten-acre plot should, properly cultivated, yield 40 tons, and would require 10 pickers who should pick a ton a day on an average. Some would pick 200 lbs., and occasionally 250 lbs. a day. A crate weighed 25 lbs. net, and contained 20 so-called quart boxes, the usual price being a cent a box for picking.

No matter what the capital stock might be the fruit would be bought like wheat on borrowed money, and as it was so quickly turned into cash and had such ready sales the banks across the line were very glad to carry the account. Ten thousand acres would do wonders for Victoria. This was not much ground to put in wheat. But in berries it should produce 40,000 tons, and at a low pressing of 170 gallons it would yield 6,800,000 gallons of juice worth wholesale $2 a gallon or $13,600,000, of which the 1,000 growers would get $2,800,000. This could not be done in a day, the speaker pointed out, but it might be accomplished in five years, and the growth of the factory and increase in the sales would keep pace with the increased production.

BRITISH CARPET TRADE

Representative of Leading Firm Here
Reports That Conditions Are Good.

Speaking on the carpet industry, a representative of a leading British manufacturing, with extensive connections in Canada and the United States, who is now in the city on a business trip, told the Times yesterday that in spite of the difficulty of fulfilling orders, the British weavers are able to send a considerable quantity of carpets here, particularly Wiltons, which are greatly favored in Canada.

"The difficulty has been to secure carpet yarn from the spinners, and dyes for coloring," he said. "The spinners have such a tremendous call for yarn for military clothing that the weavers find it hard to secure the grades of yarn required, and so far as dyes are concerned the same problem which faces all such industries affects carpet-making. We are getting practically only what the military authorities can spare."

"Still, in spite of these handicaps, and the shortage of labor, although a large number of girls are employed in the mills, the British firms are exporting well and the home trade is surprisingly good. The circulation of money due to the wages earned in the munition plants has enabled many housewives to buy new floor coverings, and in spite of increasing advances in all grades of carpets the home market keeps in good shape."

Why People Feel Depressed in the Cold Weather

Why is tiredness and languor so prevalent now? A physician explained that the cold of winter drives blood from the surface of the body to the liver. Normally one-fourth of the whole blood supply is in the liver, and when more blood is accumulated in that organ everything goes wrong.

No better remedy exists than Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which are composed of such vegetable extracts as Mandrake and Butternut, and possess wonderful liver stimulating powers. It's a marvel the way Hamilton's Pills clear the blood of the poisonous humors. They put new life into worn out bodies, build up the appetite, bring back a rosy glow of nerve energy, tide folks over the cold days of winter and the depressing days of spring. For your health and body comfort get a 25c. box of Dr. Hamilton's Pills to-day.

KILLED IN ACTION

Lieut. R. E. Drader's Name Appears in Casualty List: Parents Reside Here.

Lieut. Robert Eugene Drader, who was previously reported to have been wounded on September 15, is now officially reported killed in action.

Lieut. Drader, who was 24 years of age, was born in Ontario, coming here nine years ago. He was a school teacher by profession and was acting as cadet instructor in the public schools at Edmonton previous to enlisting in the 4th Battalion of the 1st Canadian Division of that city, and after arriving in England he was transferred to the 49th, where he was killed. He has been in the trenches since June 7. Three of Lieut. Drader's brothers are in the service, two of whom, Ptes. William and Wilbert, were wounded June 27 and June 30, respectively. They went to England with the 66th and later transferred to the 49th, and were with that battalion when they were wounded.

Besides his parents and a sister, residing at 2132 Belmont avenue, a married sister lives in Edmonton.

EXPANDING BUSINESS
NECESSITATES CHANGE

Standard Furniture Co. Moves to New Premises on Yates Street

The Standard Furniture Co., which has been in business for the past four years on Pandora avenue and by doing the right kind of business has built up a clientele that can be depended upon, has now moved into central and more commodious premises on Yates street in order to be able to supply all the articles necessary for the complete furnishing of a house. The new store is that formerly occupied by the Speirs-Walton Co., but extensive improvements have been made, new galleries have been put in, the basement has been fitted up and made homelike, and now the arrangements are such that it is very easy for a customer to pick out exactly what he wants.

The manager, A. S. Denny, looks after the business personally and sees that every customer gets the best that is to be had. He spares no pains in his endeavor to satisfy every buyer so that he may get the business again. The new store at 711 Yates street has been fitted up under his personal supervision, and he knows the business so well that the result is very satisfactory. The store has as far as possible been laid out in suites so that customers may be able to see at a glance how the furniture will look when properly grouped.

This is a time when most merchants are contracting their businesses, but Mr. Denny is expanding. He feels that this is the time to launch out and secure the business. He has unbounded faith and optimism, and he knows that by treating his customers right he can get the trade. And he is getting it. He was at one time manager for Harvey Nichols & Co. of London, England, and his experience there is what is helping him here.

In order that the goods may have a proper display, the Standard Furniture Co. has had the old windows taken out of the store and new ones put in. Everything has been completely remodelled and the staff has been enlarged, the additions including salesmen and upholsterers. In the new premises nothing is wanting to make it possible to serve customers to the best advantage.

The ground floor is largely used for showing suites of furniture and carpets and linoleums. In the galleries are the baby carriages and beds, while on the lower floor are found the easy chairs, drawing-room pieces, crockery, hardware, stoves and ranges.

People who are contemplating furnishing houses or who are looking for odd pieces or carpets are invited to look over the stock without feeling in any way bound to purchase. The staff is always glad to show goods in order that prospective housekeepers may get an idea what the cost of furnishing may be and what they may likely require. Mr. Denny wants to make his store headquarters for information, and with that in view invites the public to call and see him at any time and discuss furnishing matters with him.

Mr. Denny desires it clearly understood that the Standard Furniture Co. of Victoria has absolutely no connection with any firm in other cities trading under the same name. None but Victoria capital is invested in the business and no outsider draws any of the profits.

IS IN HOSPITAL

PTE. STANLEY R. MORRISON

Mrs. L. Morrison, 2540 Fernwood road, has received a telegram reporting that her son, Pte. Stanley R. Morrison was admitted to No. 8 general hospital, Wimeroux, on September 24 suffering from a wound in the left foot. Pte. Morrison was born in Prince Edward Island and is 20 years of age. He came to Victoria five years ago and at the time he joined the colors was employed as bridleman on the Canadian Northern. He enlisted in the 88th and later transferred to the 62nd Battalion, leaving Vancouver with that unit. In England he was transferred into the 47th Battalion.

TRIBUTE TO SOLDIER

Captain of 102nd Battalion Writes of Bravery of Pte. F. Gott.

A. W. A. Blair, of Lillooet, has received a letter from a captain in the 102nd Battalion in which the writer refers to the bravery of Pte. Francis Gott, who is well known in Lillooet district. The letter was in part as follows:

"I have something special to convey to you. It is to make known through you to his fellow native British Columbian the bravery of Private Francis Gott. He was under my command in the front-line trenches at a spot in France well known as the scene of many a bloody action in this war. On a certain Saturday afternoon we were subjected to three and a half hours of the fiercest bombardment. Jack Johnson, whizz-bang, rifle fire and all the rest of the terrible destructors of life came flying over in clouds. I cannot speak of our casualties, of the effect of the bombardment or of any of our operations, nor those of the enemy, further than to say that in earlier times the action would have ranked with the fiercest of our famous battles of history. Pte. Gott came under my personal observation. In my tour from end to end of the portion of the trench allotted to me, I spoke to him several times, and I was proud to see how cool and collected he was. I said to him, 'Well, Gott, do you like Lillooet better than this place?' and he laughingly replied that he did not like Lillooet half as well. Lieut. Macdonald afterwards told me that Gott had told him (during the action) that if I had known it was like this I would have come sooner. It is a great pleasure to me to be able to speak of him in the highest terms, and I am glad to say he got through the action without hurt."

BANTAMS TO LEAVE FOR OVERSEAS SOON

Stand-by Orders Expected at Any Time by Officers of 143rd

It was announced to the officers and men of the 143rd Battalion on parade yesterday that stand-by orders were expected at any time and that there was every possibility that they would leave very shortly. This is welcome news to the men who have been training for a long time and who are anxious to be at the front to take part in active service. It is generally understood that the return to the Beacon Hill camp will be for only a few days' sojourn.

The weather has been particularly favorable for drill and rifle practice and the result of the fine spell has been that the men have been able to remain in camp longer than would have been the case if rains had come early. As soon as there is a break in the weather the battalion will march to the city and reoccupy the barracks at Beacon Hill, unless it should happen that orders to move to England should come first.

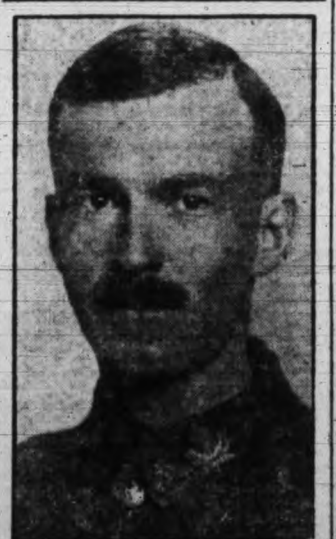

Capt. N. E. Gore-Langton, of the 143rd, has been promoted to the rank of major. He is in command of No. 4 Company and as he is an experienced soldier his many years of service with the imperial army will stand him in good stead. He and the other officers of the Bantams are fast getting the men into military shape with the idea of leaving in the near future.

VICTORIAN WOUNDED

Lieut. D'Arcy Martin, Who is in Hos-
First Contingent.

Lieut. D'Arcy Martin, eldest son of the Hon. Mr. Justice Martin, has been wounded during the present severe fighting in France and sent to some hospital in England, according to a cable from London received yesterday, which gave no particulars, but it is believed his injuries will not prove serious. He set an example by being one of the very first to volunteer when our entry into the war seemed imminent, and on August 1, 1914, the day before war was declared, he went to England with the first contingent, and was one of the many who suffered from the unfavorable conditions at Salisbury Plain, contracting a serious attack of rheumatism which incapacitated him for some months. Later he was promoted to a lieutenant in the 25th Battalion, with which he has been at the front for a considerable time, where also his brother, Captain D'Arcy Martin, is now, having returned there recently for the third time after being twice wounded.

He was a member of a regimental band, and he did not forget to brag about it. "Why, man, we can play the most intricate airs at sight," he was saying. "Indeed," said the unbelieving listener, "I should like to hear you play the airs the drum-major puts on."—London Answers.

NATIVE SON KILLED

Mr. and Mrs. J. Matthews, of Shaughnessy Heights, Vancouver, have received a telegram reporting that their only son, John Lawrence Matthews, had been killed in action on September 15. Pte. Matthews was born twenty-one years ago on Vancouver Island. His father was for many years manager of the Dunsmuir mines and retired five years ago while holding that position. Pte. Matthews left Canada in April, 1915, with the McGill University reinforcements for the Princess Pats and went into the trenches with that famous regiment a year ago. He had just entered McGill at the outbreak of war but relinquished his studies to take up arms. Previous to that time he had been educated privately in Vancouver.

HOUSEFLAGS OF TWO COMPANIES MERGED

Vessels of Newly Consolidated Pacific Steamship Co. to Carry Symbols of Lines

Seattle, Oct. 4.—Blending the house flags of the consolidated fleets, the escutcheon of the newly organized Pacific Steamship Company, after November 1 will contain the life buoy and banner of the Pacific Alaska Navigation Company, known as the Admiral Line, and the red Maltese cross of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company. It is announced.

The escutcheon will be in the form of a large white life buoy with the words "The Admiral Line" on the upper semicircle and "P. S. S. Co." on the lower. In the centre will be a white flag, on which will appear the red Maltese cross of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company. The cross takes the place of the Admiral Line anchor.

All stacks of the vessels of the combined fleets will be painted buff, the color of the funnels of the Admiral Line, with the new escutcheon in colors on either side just below the black smoke band at the top.

A. F. Haines, manager of the Pacific Steamship Company, officially announces that E. M. Barry, general agent of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company, operating department in San Francisco, has been appointed assistant manager of the new corporation. He will have his headquarters in San Francisco.

The merger of the two companies is still the chief subject of discussion by steamship men and employees of allied interests. Such a combination is not without its little tragedies, as it is impossible for the new corporation to take care of all of the clerks, stenographers and other employees of the several departments of both companies in the merger. Heads of departments, however, are being provided for as far as possible and a number of definite appointments have been made.

It is reported that J. E. Wilson, assistant general passenger agent, and Hugh B. Brittain, general agent of the passenger department, San Francisco, of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company, will be retained after the merger goes into effect on November 1. It was also said yesterday that A. S. Jones, district passenger agent, Los Angeles, and W. M. Klein, general agent, Chicago, of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company, will hold the same positions with the new company.

It has already been announced that Harry Brand, general agent of the passenger department of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company in Seattle, will hold the same position with the newly organized Pacific Steamship Company.

TACOMA WILL ARRIVE EARLY ON SATURDAY

Liner Manila Maru is Following Closely in Her Wake—Front Orient

Flashing a radiogram from seaward this morning Capt. Hamada, master of the inbound Osaka Shosen Kaisha liner Tacoma Maru, notified Messrs. R. P. Rithet & Co., local agents, that he expected to bring his ship to William Head early Saturday morning. The liner is due here Friday, but on finding that he could not make it before sundown the captain decided to nurse his vessel along and bring her to port first thing next day.

The inbound O. S. K. boat carries a full cargo of 5,000 tons, and has a fair list of passengers, but only seven will disembark here. The Tacoma's cargo is comprised of tea, raw silk, silk goods, rice, bean oil, porcelain, frecklers, rattan and general Chinese and Japanese merchandise. The steamer is expected to remain at this port only a few hours as her cargo for Victoria is light.

Closely following the Tacoma Maru is the steamship Manila Maru, Capt. Kobayashi, which is expected to arrive here on Wednesday, Oct. 11. The agents have been advised that the Manila has 120 passengers all told, including 15 for this port. She has 10,000 tons of Oriental cargo in her holds, the bulk of which is for Seattle and Tacoma.

Owing to the fact that the liner Hawaii Maru was many days late leaving here on her last trip to the Orient, it will be necessary to revise her return sailing. At present she is posted to arrive here October 25, but it will probably be the first week in November before she puts in an appearance.

ORION COMES SOUTH

Whaler Arrived in Port Last Night From Ross Harbor Plant.

The steam whaler Orion, Capt. Wells, unexpectedly arrived in port last night from Ross harbor. It is likely that the other two whalers operating out of the Queen Charlotte plant, the William Grant and Brown, will be coming south shortly, as the weather is getting bad off the northern coast. Over 120 whales were caught by the three vessels at Ross harbor during the season.

The Blue and the Orion are now berthed at the Point Elliot headquarters, the White having been dispatched to Ketchikan.

FREIGHT RATES ARE EXPECTED TO DECLINE

Escape of Large Number of Merchantmen From Baltic Had Effect on Market

It was the escape of British merchantmen, estimated as high as 200 vessels, from the Baltic, where they had been confined since the outbreak of war, combined with the enforcement of certain regulations on supplying coal only to vessels carrying cargo to British ports, that brought about the recent marked decline in outward freight rates from Great Britain, according to a report in the Liverpool Journal of Commerce. The falling off in rates has been marked, that journal asserts. From January to April the highest levels were reached on the northeast coast and Bristol Channel markets, but from the end of May and throughout June a sharp reaction set in and rates declined. This decline was simultaneous with easier rates in some charters bound to Great Britain.

A significant feature of this decline, it is asserted, was that it should occur during the period when the scheme for the limitation of rates to French ports was put into practice. It was generally known that when this scheme was begun a large number of neutral-owned vessels refused to conform to the scheduled rates and sought other trades. More recently, however, neutral tonnage was offered more freely at the limited rates.

British exporters are looking forward to still easier freight rates, it is said. The report of the escape of about 200 merchantmen from the Baltic was well received in British shipping circles, although the number was believed to be exaggerated. Still it was held that the fact that a good number had escaped would have an adverse influence upon rates, as it was understood that the British government would not regulation these ships.

ALASKA SALMON FLEET

Many Vessels Will Be Chartered This Winter for Offshore Trade.

The month of September, as in past years, found the great fleet of Alaska salmon and cod fishers returning to San Francisco with reports of the roughest weather and the largest catch in many seasons. There were the usual number of deaths, mostly due to natural causes, this year. The winter of 1916-17 will be far different for these vessels, for the owners, the largest of which is the Alaska Packers' Association, contemplate chartering the ships to carry cargo at lucrative rates rather than lay them up as has been the custom for many years.

TROUBLE WITH LINER

The Pacific Mail Steamship Company

appears to be having plenty of trouble with the liner Colombia. It is now reported she has been sunk alongside the wharf at which she was repairing at Amsterdam. She was purchased last year by the Pacific Mail Company, along with the sister boats Venezuela and Ecuador. The latter ship has already made one trans-Pacific trip in the service of her new owners.

LESTER PATRICK BACK FROM SOUTH

Will Leave Next Week to Take Over Management of Spokane Arena

Lester Patrick, the popular local hockey leader, has returned from California and reports that hockey prospects for the forthcoming year are entirely satisfactory. Lester states that the Spokane arena will be completed in the course of a week or two, and the opening date will be the same as Seattle, October 25. The Victoria team, as previously reported, will be moved to Spokane for the coming season, and this city will be without hockey during the period of the war.

The outlook for hockey in the inland city is taking on a rosier hue every day, and it is confidently expected that the game will catch on as well as it has in the other American cities on the coast circuit.

Lester Patrick will leave for the "Inland Empire" next Sunday to take over the management of the arena, and it is expected that the former Victoria players will follow soon. No new players have been signed as yet by any of the coast teams, but the managers foresee little difficulty in filling the places of the men who are missing. The Spokane team will require a new goal tender and a forward to take the places of McCulloch and Box, who are at the front.

The local hockey magazine was surprised at the strides skating and hockey have made in the south. In San Francisco a second arena has been erected and will be opened this week. Mervyn Hapke and Miss Lamb, along with four ballet girls, being one of the attractions at the opening. A six-club amateur hockey league is operating in San Francisco, and the game is taking well. With the completion of the new arena, which has a seating capacity about equal to that of the Victoria arena, the clubs will undoubtedly receive liberal support. Mr. Patrick stated that it had not been definitely decided whether the local arena would be open for skating this season or not.

PIPP HAS TRAVELED A WANDERING PATH

Star First Baseman of Highlanders Did Not Make Good on First Trial

Walter Pipp, the first baseman of the Yankees, has traveled a wandering path, with many downs as well as ups, in his climb to diamond glory. It was four years ago that Pipp was sold to Detroit by Kalamazoo and got his first chance to shine in the majors—an opportunity which he didn't realize on. Walter was born in Grand Rapids and reared to a height of two inches over six feet—in Michigan. He had played semi-pro ball in Hastings and college ball at Georgetown University before he became a star in Kalamazoo, South Michigan league. He was still in his teens when the Celery City manager, ment sold him to Highlanders. Pipp was retained by Detroit until July, 1913, when he was turned over to Providence. He remained with the Saints less than a month, and finished the season with Scranton. He was recalled to Detroit at the close of the New York State league season, but again he failed to qualify as a Striped Cat, and early in 1914 was optionally released to Rochester. In the International Pipp played a fine game at first and batted .312, and Jennings recalled him in August. Early last year he was sold to the Yankees at the waiver price, and since then he has been the regular first sacker of the Donovan outfit.

BREEZY BITS

The Cincinnati Reds won but two of the 11 games they played in Cincinnati with the Phillies this season. In the 11 games the Reds made 25 runs off the Philly pitchers, while the Phils made 54.

Charley Dooin, recalled by the New York Giants from Rochester, has been given his unconditional release under the 10 years' service clause. Dooin expects to land a managerial berth in the minors for next year.

Fred Bailey, the Braves' collegian outfielder, is another one of those players who have overcome a handicap that would discourage an ordinary mortal. Bailey tore the ligaments of his left shoulder playing football, but instead of giving up he proceeded to learn to throw with his right arm and now he's in the big show. Tris Speaker and Eddie Roush are two players who originally were right-handers but had to change because of injuries.

Playing with a cellar outfit has not kept Hal Chase, of the Reds, from leading the National League batsmen.

Ty Cobb and Max Carey, leading base-stealers in the American and National Leagues, respectively, are running neck and neck for the piffling championship of the big show.

Pitchers who have taken part in more than forty games this season include: Alexander, of the Phils; Hughes, of the Braves; Mamaux, of the Pirates; Toney, Schulz and Schneider, of the Reds; Ames and Meadows, of the Cardinals; Leonard, Mays and Ruth, of the Red Sox; Johnson and Galloway, of Washington; Kind and H. Coveleskie, of the Tigers; Shawkey, of the Yankees; S. Coveleskie and Bagby, of Cleveland; Myers, of the Athletics, and Davenport, Groom and Wellmann, of the Browns.

SETS WORLD'S MARK AT LEXINGTON MEET

Two world's records were made by The Real Lady in winning the 2-year-old division of the Kentucky Futurity, the principal event of the opening day of the forty-fourth annual meeting of the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' Association at Lexington on Monday.

The Murphy entry trotted the first heat in 2:07 1/2, lowering the former mark of 2:07 3/4 for 2-year-old fillies, held jointly by Native Belle and Volga, and then, lowering that mark in the second heat, making it in 2:07 and by so doing establishing a new two-heat record for 2-year-old fillies.

SGT. JACK FENTON SERIOUSLY WOUNDED

Sgt. Cunningham, 67th Battalion, in a letter to Archie Muir, the local soccer star, conveys the news that Corporal Jack Fenton, of the same battalion, who was recently reported wounded, has lost an arm and part of his shoulder. It appears he was just leaving his dugout when a bomb exploded. It was a miracle that he was not blown to pieces. Sgt. Cunningham states that the wounded man stood his ground in an heroic manner.

M'GRAW DISGUSTED WITH HIS PLAYERS

Left Bench in Fifth Inning Yesterday When Signals Were Disregarded

Brooklyn, N. Y., Oct. 4.—Declaring that he was disgusted with the playing of his team, Manager John J. McGraw, of the New York National League club, left Ebbetts field in the fifth inning of yesterday's game between Brooklyn and New York, and retired to the club house. Manager McGraw did not appear on the field after that inning.

In a statement after the game, in which Brooklyn clinched the National League pennant, McGraw asserted that although he did not believe any of the players tried deliberately to obey orders and had disregarded signals.

"When Peritt wound up with a man on first base, allowing the runner to steal second, I lost my patience and left the bench," declared the New York leader. "I have worked too hard this year to stand around and watch playing like that, and I refuse to be connected with it."

BIG SERIES SHOULD DRAW LARGE CROWDS

Lucky Players Will Be Enriched as Result of Games

New York, Oct. 4.—While it is unlikely that new records will be established for either attendance or receipts in the coming world series, it is certain that both players and managers will profit to a considerable extent when the pooks are balanced at the end of the conflict. Taking the attendance of the past few years and striking an average on the basis of six games, it will be seen that close to 175,000 spectators can be counted upon to witness the play.

In the eleven series to date under the control of the national baseball commission the total attendance has reached the remarkable figure of 1,538,918, and the total gate receipts $2,488,654, which gives an average charge of admission of about $1.60 per head. Assuming that the attendance at the coming series will reach an aggregate of something like 175,000, the gross receipts will total $280,000. Should the title be won in four games straight or even in a five-game series the gate receipts would necessarily be smaller.

Under the rules of the national commission the gross gate receipts are divided in the following manner: The national commission receives 10 per cent. of the receipts of every game played; of the remaining 90 per cent. the players receive 60 per cent. for the first four games, and the club owners 40 per cent. After four games have been contested the players cease to participate in the financial rewards and the managers take the entire gate, less the 10 per cent. paid to the commission.

Under a comparatively recent ruling of the major leagues, the club owners of the series are obliged to divide 25 per cent. of their profits among the other clubs in their league. In addition the club authorities bear all the expenses of the series, including ticket-printing, transportation and hotel charges for the players, ground attendants, ushers, hire of bands and a score of minor expenses.

The record attendance and receipts of the world's series is held at present by the 1912 contest, when the New York Nationals and the Boston Americans played an eight-game series, in which the Red Sox won four, the Giants won three, with the second game a tie at 6 to 6. In this series the total attendance was 251,901 and the gate receipts $490,449. The Chicago Nationals-Detroit Americans games in 1908 form the other extreme, for the aggregate attendance was but 62,232 for five games and the receipts $94,975.

CUBS SIGN DEAL.

That troublesome third base problem of the Chicago Cubs has been solved at last, thinks President Weegman. The Cubs' chief makes the announcement of the signing of Charles Deal, formerly of the world champion Braves of 1914, who has been playing high-class ball with the Kansas City club. Deal has led the third-sackers of the American Association.

ROSTER OF WINNERS IN AMERICAN LEAGUE

Sketches of Careers of Players Who Will Represent Red Sox

The twenty-fifth annual struggle for world's series baseball honors, and the twelfth under the control of the National Baseball Commission, will bring together two eastern clubs, as has been the case since 1911.

The Boston Americans since their entry into the junior league in 1901 have won the pennant four times, not including the present season, and have competed for the world's title three times.

In 1903 the team captured its first pennant and then defeated the Pittsburgh Nationals in an eight-game series by five games to three. The following year the team repeated its league victory, but the New York club, winner of the National League pennant, would not permit its players to contend for the world's championship, which action eventually led to the National Commission taking charge of the world's series. In 1912 and 1913 the Boston Americans again won the right to play in the series and defeated the New York Nationals and the Philadelphia Nationals, respectively, by scores of four to three, with one tie contest, and four games to one.

The following roster of the leading players of the Boston American League Club, who are likely to participate in the coming world's series, includes the principal features of their playing career from the time they entered the national sport:

Manager Carrigan.

William F. Carrigan, manager of the team, was born at Lewiston, Me., October 22, 1883, and went to the Red Sox from Holy Cross College in 1907. Later he was sent to the Toronto club of the Eastern League for further development and in 1908 he returned to the Boston club and has remained with that team since. Late in July, 1913, he became manager in which capacity he has acted for the three years. Carrigan is one of the very few playing managers of the present day. As a catcher he has taken part in more than thirty games this season and has an excellent batting and fielding average.

John J. Barry.

John J. Barry, who was born in Meriden, Conn., in 1887, graduated from Holy Cross College where he became a prominent factor in collegiate baseball and was signed by the Philadelphia Athletics after his graduation. He was one of Mack's mainstays from 1908 to 1914 when the Philadelphia manager broke up his wonderful team and Barry went to Boston. He was the regular second baseman for the Red Sox, a timely hitter and a player possessed of all around ability, but injuries which he received during the present season have prevented him from playing for some time past, and he may not take part in the coming series.

Forrest Cady.

Forrest Cady, first string catcher of the Red Sox, was born at Bishop, Ill., twenty-five years ago and made his professional debut with Indianapolis in 1908. He was sold by Indianapolis to 1910 to Newark, and was with that team for two years, being sold to Boston in 1912, when that club won the world's championship from the Giants.

George Foster.

George Foster, born in Bokoshe, Okla., twenty-seven years ago, is a right-hand pitcher. Most of his experience has been gained with the Red Sox, as he started his career in the Texas League with Houston in 1912, and went to Boston in 1913. Foster, with Wood absent, was the mainstay of the Red Sox last year, and promises to continue in that role for some time, because he is a willing worker and possesses the skill and good judgment to go with it.

Dell C. Gainer.

"Dell" Gainer, who substituted at the initial sack for Hoblitzel, and hit the ball more often than any infielder on the club the latter part of the season, is 29 years old. He began his career in 1909 with the Fort Wayne club of the Central League. He was purchased from Fort Wayne by Detroit in 1910, but was not seasoned enough. He returned to Fort Wayne, but was recalled in 1911. He immediately won the first bag on the Tiger team, and played through the season of 1911. He broke his wrist in 1912 and was out of the game so long Detroit sold him to Boston. He was a utility infielder and pinch hitter for the club last season and has been of great value to the team.

Lawrence Gardner.

Lawrence (Larry) Gardner, third baseman, is a graduate of the University of Vermont, where he first learned his baseball. He was born in Enosburg Falls, Vt., May 23, 1886, of English parents. From 1905 to 1907 he was star of the Vermont team. Many clubs offered Gardner a contract, and he practically chose the Red Sox himself, signing in 1908. He farmed out to Lynn of the New England League, in 1908, returning to the Red Sox the following season. Since then he had played continuously, excepting when injured, at first in utility roles, then succeeding McConnell at second base, his present position. He is a splendid infielder and an excellent batsman; besides being fast on the bases. He bats left-handed and throws right-handed.

Sylvanus Gregg.

Sylvanus ("Yan") Gregg was born at Ashland, Wash., Oct. 27, 1887. He played ball with many independent teams during his early career, and received his first professional assignment with the Spokane club of the Northwestern League in 1909. He was purchased by Cleveland in 1911. He was then sold, in the middle of 1914, to Boston.

Olaf Hendrickson.

Olaf Hendrickson, substitute outfielder and pinch hitter of the Red Sox is a New Englander, 25 years of age, whose winter home is Clinton, Mass. He first played professionally with the Brockton club of the New England League in 1910 and was purchased by Boston during the season of 1911. He bats and throws left-handed.

Richard J. Hoblitzel.

Richard J. (Dick) Hoblitzel was born in Parkersburg, W. Va., Oct. 26, 1889. His first professional contract was with Clarkburg, W. Va., in 1907. He joined the Newark League club in 1908, but was sent to Wheeling, from where he was purchased by the Cincinnati Reds. Until 1914 he played with the Reds and for most of that time he ranged among the best as a first baseman. He was sold to Boston by Herzog, for private reasons, and immediately made his mark with the Red Sox. He is a big fellow who knows the game well, can hit and field with the best, and is a main factor in the great machine.

Harry B. Hooper.

Harry B. Hooper, right fielder for the Red Sox, started his career as a pitcher, but was placed in the outfield because of his hitting ability. He was born in Santa Clara, Cal., Aug. 24, 1887, and his first professional engagement was with Sacramento, Cal., in 1907. He was purchased from the Coast team by the Red Sox and became a regular in 1909.

Harold C. Janvry.

Harold C. Janvry is a utility player of much worth. He began his career with Boston English High school and was born in Boston 23 years ago. His first professional experience was with the Red Sox, which team he joined in 1911. He was farmed out to Jersey City in 1912 and recalled the next season. He is a fast fielder and a timely hitter, and can play any of the infield positions.

Hubert B. Leonard.

Hubert B. ("Dutch") Leonard, the star southpaw of the Boston team, and probably the most efficient left-hander in the league, was born at Fresno, Cal., 24 years ago. He received his early baseball training at St. Mary's College in San Francisco. He came direct to the Red Sox from the college ranks in 1911, but was sent to Denver for seasoning. He was with Denver in 1912 and part of 1913 and returned to the Red Sox in the middle of the 1913 season. In 1914 Leonard led the American League pitchers in efficiency.

George Lewis.

George (Duffy) Lewis, left fielder of the Red Sox, was born in San Francisco April 18, 1888. He started his baseball career as a collegian on the Pacific coast, his first professional engagement being with Alameda, Cal., in 1906. He came to Boston in 1910 and has been a regular almost from his first day. He bats and throws right-handed and is considered a 200 hitter.

Carl Mays.

Carl Mays, another member of the Boston pitching staff, was born in Portland, Ore., 23 years ago. He came to the Red Sox last year from the Providence club of the International League, after having been developed in the Portland team of the Northwestern League. He is a right-hander and, although a youngster, has convinced Carrigan and others that he is the coming sensation of the league.

George Ruth.

George ("Babe") Ruth, 21 years old, was born in Baltimore and first attracted attention as a pitcher for St. Mary's Industrial school of that city. He was taken under the wing of "Jack" Dunn, then manager of the Orioles, who obtained papers as Ruth's guardian and played the young fellow on the club. Ruth went to the Red Sox in 1914 and was farmed to Providence, but returned last year in time to win enough games for the Red Sox to keep them in the race. Ruth also is a hitter of ability. He is a left-hand batsman and also has ability in this position.

Everett Scott.

Everett Scott was born at Bluffton, Ind., 23 years ago. He played semiprofessionally until attracted by Boston scouts in 1913, when he was induced to sign with the majors. He was sent to St. Paul for seasoning, being recalled in 1914. He is not a great hitter, but manages to place a hit into the game when most needed.

Ernest G. Shore.

Ernest G. (Long) Shore, 25 years of age, learned his pitching feats at Guilford College of Fayetteville, N. C. John McGraw tried him out in 1912, but Shore, when released from the New York baseball club to Indianapolis, refused to carry out the plan. The next year, McGraw reinstated Shore, who got an engagement, with Baltimore, subsequently going to the Boston club. Shore pitched remarkably ball for the Red Sox in the 1915 world series.

Chester D. Thomas.

Chester D. Thomas, who warms up the pitchers, catches when Cady and Carrigan are overworked, and pinch hits with a timely punch, was born in Sharon, Kan., 26 years ago. He is a right-hand thrower and a left-hand batter and does both with equal excellence.

Charles Wagner.

Charles (Helme) Wagner, utility infielder of the Red Sox, probably is the oldest man in point of service on the Boston club. He was born in New York September 23, 1851, where he played semiprofessionally for several years before being tried out by the Giants as a shortstop in 1901. He reached his right form in 1906, attracted the Red Sox owners and was purchased by that club.

BETTING ON SERIES FAVORS THE RED SOX

Boston, Oct. 4.—Distribution of reserved seat tickets for the world's series baseball games in this city between Brooklyn and Boston, which will open on Saturday, began to-day. Each of 27,000 seats available for reservation was covered by applications, officials of the local club said.

First indications of the betting odds on the series were available to-day with Brooklyn definitely placed as the National League pennant winners. Wagers were offered at odds of 10 to 7 on Boston. As yet, it was said, no Brooklyn money had appeared.

PRACTICE GAME.

The V.I.A. business men's soccer team and the V.I.A. regular team, both of which have entered the intermediate division of the Victoria and District Football Association, will meet in a practice game on the Beacon Hill grounds next Saturday afternoon at 2:30.

CHINESE ACCUSED OF ## STEALING BANK BILL

Wong Gee Sai Elects for Speedy Trial by Jury.

Wong Gee Sai was arrested yesterday afternoon in the Victoria branch of the Bank of British North America. He was accused of stealing a $20 bill, which was the property of W. J. Pendray & Sons, Ltd. Wong was locked up, but in due course was admitted to bail.

This morning he appeared before Magistrate Jay, with Thornton Fell, K. C., as his solicitor, and elected to take a jury trial.

City Prosecutor Harrison called Ernest H. Butler, accountant for W. J. Pendray & Sons, Ltd., who stated that about 2 p. m. he went to the Bank of British North America to deposit money belonging to the firm. He went first to the discount clerk and then to the receiving teller with the deposit in an envelope and a $20 bill which he was having changed for office use. On the way to the teller he stopped at the centre table to endorse a cheque, and laid the envelope and $20 bill down beside him on the table. The accused was seen to endorse the cheque, counting bills, and he asked him if he had not. He then asked the man how much money he had, and Wong said he had $220, correcting this to $240. Asked to count the money, Wong counted $100 in bills, all face up, in one bundle, and in a second he had $100 in bills which were all face up, and a twenty-dollar bill face down. In another bundle of bills fastened with a rubber band was about $20.

The bill which he lost was a Bank of British North America note. Wong had some $20 notes of the same bank. While witness was looking about for the lost note Wong had gone over to the paying teller's window. Later on witness had a conversation with the teller, and received from him the note which he had lost, which he now identified.

William H. Lawson, office manager for W. J. Pendray & Sons, from whom the note had come to Butler, produced two other notes which he had been carrying at the time, and pointed out that the folds in all three corresponded and fitted in one with the other.

The case was remanded until eleven o'clock to-morrow.

The Chinese was standing where he had stood to endorse the cheque, counting bills, and he asked him if he had not. The bill which he lost was a Bank of British North America note. Wong had some $20 notes of the same bank. While witness was looking about for the lost note Wong had gone over to the paying teller's window. Later on witness had a conversation with the teller, and received from him the note which he had lost, which he now identified.

William H. Lawson, office manager for W. J. Pendray & Sons, from whom the note had come to Butler, produced two other notes which he had been carrying at the time, and pointed out that the folds in all three corresponded and fitted in one with the other.

The case was remanded until eleven o'clock to-morrow.

The Chinese was standing where he had stood to endorse the cheque, counting bills, and he asked him if he had not. He then asked the man how much money he had, and Wong said he had $220, correcting this to $240. Asked to count the money, Wong counted $100 in bills, all face up, in one bundle, and in a second he had $100 in bills which were all face up, and a twenty-dollar bill face down. In another bundle of bills fastened with a rubber band was about $20.

EXHIBITORS LUNCH

TOGETHER AT FAIR

Speeches by Prominent Men on Topics of Interest to Producers

A luncheon was given to-day at the Red Cross rooms in the Home Products fair building to which all the exhibitors were invited, and which was well attended. J. C. Pendray, president of the local branch of the Manufacturers' Association, presided and addresses were given by Dr. E. F. Tolmie, president of the Agricultural Association, George Kidd, general manager of the B. C. Electric Railway Co., Frank Higgins on behalf of the consumer, L. D. Rines representing the manufacturers, E. T. Lamphere representing the seed growers, and N. A. Yarrow, who proposed a vote of thanks to the other speakers. The addresses were short and to the point, and proved very interesting to the exhibitors because of their practicality. Lunch was served by the ladies of the Red Cross Society of Oak Bay, and was thoroughly enjoyed.

In introducing the speakers Mr. Pendray said that the exhibition was one of the best they had ever had in Victoria and they wanted to keep up the interest. When they found the Hudson's Bay Co. willing to lend them the magnificent building, the B. C. Electric Co. willing to provide free power and light for the fair, the telephone company putting in free telephones, and the two newspapers co-operating to help it along, it was for them to do something to follow it up and see that the work done was not lost. They should work together.

Dr. Tolmie thanked the B. C. Manufacturers' Association for the invitation to be present. One thing that impressed him in connection with the show was the modesty of the exhibitors. Some were making the best of their opportunities in telling the people about their work, but others did not do it and for that reason did not get as good results they otherwise might.

Speaking of the trade of the country districts, Dr. Tolmie said that several years ago most of the business was done with Victoria, but lately he had noticed that much of it was going to Vancouver. The mail order business was very considerable, as could be clearly seen from the large number of parcels that were delivered on the rural delivery routes. From some districts it was easier to get to Vancouver than to this city. It was for the business people to look into this and find out the reason for it.

The speaker advised the manufacturers to put up a good article and sell it at a reasonable price. They should get acquainted with the farmers by visiting them and exhibiting at their shows. For years they had been depending on the government for the building of railways and the development of the country. They had neglected the small things which were really the important ones. He knew of a man who had sold $5,000 worth of strawberries from 4½ acres of land in one season. It was surprising what could be produced from the land, and if the land was cultivated it would help the manufacturer and retailer.

Mr. Kidd said that he was surprised to find what Victoria could do in the way of production. Victoria was celebrated for her scenery and climate and every soon she should be famous because of her productive activity. He was particularly interested in the exhibition because his company had two exhibits there. He did not think his company had shown reluctance in taking its share in the development of the place. He realized that the company lived on the community and he was always ready to co-operate in the way of service. Mr. Goward would always be ready to assist them in any possible manner.

The province had been suffering from depression. Some blamed the war for it, others blamed the high price of labor and again others said it was the fault of the politicians. Sir George Foster, who was a recent visitor, had made an important suggestion, and it was that they should produce. In the past they had talked of the resources without developing them. Without co-operation little could be done, but the spirit of co-operation made difficult things easy. The Manufacturers' Association was doing a good deal to encourage that spirit.

In connection with the war, Mr. Lloyd George had said that the ultimate issue would be the largest stock of silver bullets which a nation possessed. They could do it for the country by producing. He had recently returned from London and he noticed the appreciation which was felt for the help that had been given by the overseas Dominions. All were imperialists these days, but not in the old sense, only in the co-operative sense. He attended a recent meeting when Mr. Boner Law said that the Kaiser had had many dreams and one was that he was to be the builder of a great empire. He thought that was true, but it was the British empire which was to be built.

Frank Higgins, speaking from the point of view of the consumer, advised more advertising of local productions. The difficulty was often to find out where to get local-made goods. He saw in the exhibit something which he had not known was made in Victoria, but there was no sign on it except a notice of a Red Cross tea. He did not see why people should have to search for local-made goods. The public market had stimulated interest in home-grown produce. He advocated rather helping those industries which were already here rather than trying to get new ones. They should blaze abroad the fact that they had goods to sell and get out and get the business. They had been sitting about criticizing other people and not looking after getting business for themselves.

L. D. Rines said that many people had been surprised to find what things were made in Victoria. His firm was more interested in letting people know what they were prepared to buy than in selling. He was in the pickle business, but he could not expect to make it a great success until he was able to buy the produce they needed right in the district. Just now they were sending to Washington to purchase cucumbers, but he hoped that next year they would be able to get them at home. Next season they expected to add jam-making to their present industry. Those who had berries for jam-making now had to send them to Vancouver. There was no good reason why they should not be made up here.

E. T. Lamphere, on behalf of the seed growers, said that seed growing would pay them much better than growing vegetables. Seeds and loganberries were both profitable and they should develop the industry here where all the conditions were suitable.

In moving a vote of thanks to the speakers, Mr. Yarrow said that the people had no idea what was being produced and great credit was due to the Manufacturers' Association for starting the fair. His firm has just finished the refitting of a British warship doing work that had only been done a few times before and that at the large British yards. He was in a position to say that the work had been carried out satisfactorily, as the trials just completed had proved. This work would prove to the admiralty that they were able to do the work here as well and almost as quickly as in England.

In seconding the vote of thanks J. O. Cameron said that there was one thing they should try to do and that was to forget politics. He hoped that politicians would not interfere with him, but that he would be left alone to build the three ships which were under way, and that if this was done they would be prepared to build three more. This industry promised much and would bring a lot of money into the city. They were paying out $2,000 a week for wages and 75 per cent of the whole cost of construction of the ships went for wages.

BIRTHDAY PARTY A

SUCCESSFUL EVENT

Victoria Day Nursery Receives Provisions and Other Practical Gifts

The little committee which opened the Victoria Day Nursery three years ago has followed up the work with praiseworthy devotion, and at the "birthday party" held yesterday to celebrate the founding of the institution, which is now housed on Quadra street, there was every evidence of the good work which has been done, and of the interest which is still taken in the little folks by their many kind friends. Beside liberal quantities of flour, potatoes, rolled oats, tea, rice and other provisions which will help to keep the larger full during the next few months, there had to be acknowledged $65 in cash, $18.32 of which was the voluntary collection of "Peter," Mrs. Dug's little bull terrier. Mrs. George Jay checked up the supplies as they arrived, and spent a very busy afternoon in this way.

Quite a large number of interested visitors were present, not only bringing their gifts, but showing their sympathy by going over the building and inquiring into the further needs of the Home. Mrs. A. C. Burdick took charge of the tea room, where very welcome refreshments were served later in the afternoon by Mrs. Bowser, Mrs. Roberts and Miss Irving. Mrs. Bowser and Mrs. T. J. Paterson welcomed the guests as they arrived, among those present being Rev. Wm. Stevenson, Mrs. Hardy, Mrs. Gordon Grant, Rev. E. G. and Mrs. Miller, Rev. Bishop Macdonald, Rev. A. de B. Owen, Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Clay, Mrs. Charles Todd, Mrs. McDiamid, Mrs. Taylor and Rev. Mr. Bayne.

Rev. Wm. Stevenson, president of the committee, presided, and in a brief address told of the origin of the institution and the nature of its work. It was started purely as a day nursery, he explained. The object was to provide shelter and care for the babies of working mothers as time went on, owing to domestic calamities, sickness, death, and other unforeseen contingencies, and other children required the care afforded. It was emphasized, however, that no children were received into the Home who were eligible either for the Children's Aid or the Orphanage. The work had grown so that even the present premises, to which the nursery had moved just a year ago, were too small. Mr. Stevenson spoke of the splendid devotion of the women of the committee, especially those who had charge of the house from time to time. All had done excellently. By name were mentioned in this connection Mrs. Bowser, Mrs. T. J. Paterson, Mrs. Hardy, Mrs. Lovatt, Mrs. George Jay and Mrs. Burdick.

Mrs. Gordon Grant spoke also, explaining that the committee was composed of four representatives of leading organizations—the Local Council of Women, the Friendly Help, the King's Daughters and the Social Service Commission. The committee was indebted to the mayor and the city council for the generous donation of $100 a month, and Leonard Tait. The latter acknowledged to the Bowserites the title of "the best of the Conservatives in Victoria."

The soon-to-be ex-minister of finance urged that with the near approach of a federal election, it behooved the Conservatives of Victoria to prepare. He saw no reason for regretting the provincial defeat if it stirred the party's members to renewed efforts. That defeat at least, showed who were friends and who were opportunity seekers. The Liberals confronted with a big job, the biggest they ever tackled. Conservatives could afford to sit tight, allowing their opponents to make the best of their victory, confident that when the next election arrived there would be a demand by the people for a change. The Conservative party at the election put up a straight and clean fight, of which its members could be proud.

It is said that the supporters of John McInnes, the Socialist candidate in the constituency of Port George against Hon. W. R. Ross, minister of lands, are considering contesting the election of the minister in the event of the latter's defeat.

FAIR SIDE SHOWS ARE BIG ATTRACTION

Red Cross Committees Help Success of Exhibition by Entertainment Features

Public interest in the Home Products exhibition, which was well attended even on the opening day, is increasing as the week progresses. Nothing could better have demonstrated the success of the fair, which is advertising itself admirably through the unrestrained praise of the people who have already visited the Hudson's Bay building and viewed with surprise and satisfaction the splendid exhibit of made-in-Victoria and grown-on-the-island products.

Splendid as the ensemble appeared on Monday most of the stalls have since then added little finishing touches and amplified their exhibits, so that Tuesday's visitors saw an even more complete exposition of local manufactures. The hall was also considerably warmer, which was no small consideration to those in charge of the various stalls, and particularly to the ladies who had charge of the tea-rooms and the Red Cross display in the balcony. The latter, incidentally, were the centre of much interest, and Mrs. Fleming and her capable corps of assistants, Mesdames Heisterman, Wilders, Smith, Sargison, Ashdale and the Misses Farrie and Jones, never tired demonstrating the manufacture of various articles which come within the category of Red Cross supplies and which have been shipped in such enormous quantities from the headquarters work-rooms in the Temple building during the last eighteen months. The Oak Bay Red Cross tea-rooms were also well patronized, and it needed everyone of the big corps of volunteer assistants to attend to the rush of people who required attention between 4 and 6 o'clock. Further donations of supplies may be sent any day during the week.

In the afternoon there was a meeting under the auspices of the women of Victoria. This took place in the little theatre where the evening entertainments are being held. Mrs. Henry Croft occupied the chair and with her on the platform being Mrs. B. M. Hasell, Mrs. J. C. Kemp of Vancouver, was the only one of the two speakers announced for the afternoon who delivered her paper, her subject being "The B. C. Consumers' League." Mrs. Ralph Smith, who was to have spoken, was unable to do so at the last moment. The vote of thanks to Mrs. Kemp was proposed by W. A. Jameson, seconded by Commissioner Cuthbert, both of whom made fitting acknowledgment of the part which the women of Victoria and district had taken in the Home Products exhibition and impressing the greater part which they can continue to play in supporting the principle set out by the speaker.

Added Improvement: Since the fair opened the provincial government display in the southeast corner has been amplified by the addition of several new exhibits. Part of the exhibition on view in this part of the hall was only returned from the Toronto exhibition on Saturday last. The fine selection of Island grown apples is one of the most remarkable upon features of the exhibit, many people having expressed surprise that fruit of such magnificent quality is produced right at the coast as well as in some of the more popularly acknowledged apple districts.

Evening Entertainment: The Esquimalt Red Cross, which is taking charge of the vaudeville programme which is running twice nightly during the week, added considerably to its takings last evening when a very fine bill, headed by Tom Watson, was given. Assisting in the chorus, which was an asset to the programme, were the Misses Marjorie Hirst, Evelyn Christin, Billie Pettigrew, Elsie Dumbleton, Laura Rudge, May Cameron and Margaret Greig. The "Hayseed Band" discoursed outside the theatre entrance, their picturesque attire and instrumentation attracting the attention of every visitor in the building. The musicians were volunteers of the Bantams' band, and did nobly the part for which they volunteered. The programme included: "Valiz Song," Miss Marjorie Hirst and chorus of dancers; "They Wouldn't Believe Me," Miss Ethel Watson, and "Hawaii," a duet, sung by the Misses Elsie and Jerry Dumbleton, assisted by the entire company. The finale was particularly good.

J. North, who lent his voice to advertising the theatrical performance on Monday evening, spent his forces in profitable manner last night in calling the attention of visitors to the "Sugar Show," the Esquimalt Red Cross, under whose auspices the mounted monster cat is being shown, benefitting to the extent of nearly $50 during the evening, as besides paying for the privilege of seeing the wild animal which so nearly succeeded in taking the lives of the two children with whom it fought last week at Cowichan Lake, many purchased the photographs which were for sale.

Another department of the Red Cross has seized, in characteristically prompt fashion, an opportunity to turn a good occasion to account. This is the superfluous department, which is running contemporaneously a number of raffles, the drawing for which will take place on Saturday evening. There are many good things, several very handsome things, offered, and the sale of tickets is progressing very satisfactorily. Henry Pearce, who has charge of the department, having announced that to date between eight and nine hundred tickets have been disposed of. There are twenty-five prizes in all and one thousand tickets have been issued. The drawing on Saturday night should attract a large number of the holders. Altogether the Red Cross branches in Victoria may hope for a handsome supplement at the end of the week to their funds.

Entertainment To-night.

The entertainment to-night will be featured by a comedy-conjuring act by L. D. McLean and Harold M. Diggon, both well-known and proficient exponents of the art of legerdemain, who have entertained Victoria audiences on a score of occasions. There will be Irish dances and songs by the Dooley family, other local artists who require no advertising. The programme is as follows: Song, Mr. Dooley, "What the Who the Why the?" comic song, "Following in Father's Footsteps," Miss

Lily Dooley; violin (a) Minuet in G, Beethoven; (b) Cradle Song, Hauser; (c) Intermezzo Sinfonico, Mascagni, played by Master Danny Cann, a boy prodigy of Seattle, who is coming over specially to play at this concert. All the side shows at the exhibition are being well patronized, winning for the undertaking the just appellation of "fair," which is suggestive of the comprehensive character of this thoroughly successful enterprise.

PUBLIC MARKET.

The price of eggs showed an advance at the public market to-day. There was a good attendance and wide range of products. Business was good in most lines with prices generally the same as at the previous market. Quotations ruled at the following average figures:

Fruit—Strawberries, per box, 25c; blackberries, a boxes, 25c; greenhouses, 2 large boxes, 25c; greenhouses, per crate, 50c; Italian prunes, per lb., 2c; apples, 10 lbs., 25c; apples, per box, from 60c; pears, 7 lbs., 25c.

Dairy produce—Eggs, per doz., 50c and 55c; butter, per lb., 40c and 45c; Vegetables—Tomatoes, 2 lbs., 25c; celery, 3 sticks, 10c; corn, per doz., 20c; cabbage, 3 for 5c; marrow each, 5c; beets, 2 bunches, 10c; lettuce, 2 bunches, 5c; cauliflower, from 5c; onions, 8 lbs., 25c; red cabbage, each, 5c.

Some time ago, when Sir Ian Hamilton was reviewing a certain corps, a laughable incident occurred. One of the officers was mounted on a horse that had previously belonged to a baker. A wit in the crowd, who was aware of this fact, shouted out "Baker!" and immediately the horse stopped dead, and nothing the officer could do would make it budge. Things were beginning to look serious when suddenly the rider was struck with a brilliant idea. "Not to-day, thank you!" he shouted, and at once the noble animal moved on, to the intense relief of everyone concerned.

Diner (looking at order)—This isn't a very good-looking piece of meat. Waiter—Well, you ordered a plain steak.

FOUR WEEKS IN HOSPITAL

Mrs. Brown Finally Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Cleveland, Ohio.—"For years I suffered so sometimes it seemed as though I could not stand it any longer. It was all in my lower organs. At times I could hardly walk, for if I stepped on a little stone I would almost faint. One day I did faint and my husband was sent for and the doctor came. I was taken to the hospital and stayed four weeks but when I came home I would faint just the same and had the same pains."

A friend who is a nurse said for me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I began taking it that very day for I was suffering a great deal. It has already done me more good than the hospital. To anyone who is suffering as I was my advice is to stop in the first drug-store and get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before you go home."

EXTOLS ROMAN

Mrs. R. Andros Taylor Refutes Charges of Historians Against Character of Caesar.

The Young Women's Business Club last evening at the Y. W. C. A. listened to a clever and uniquely interesting paper by Mrs. R. Andros Taylor, who upheld a new picture of immortal Caesar for the admiration of her hearers. Julius Caesar, she claimed, had a character singularly irreproachable in view of the lax morality of the age in which he lived. Although living in a particularly corrupt period in history and being a man of the world he did not deserve the charges of licentiousness and infidelity which had been made against him by his detractors. Cicero, who knew Caesar well, in his letters to his friends gave many appreciations of Caesar's character. In lending his villa to Cleopatra the Roman was simply paying a conventional respect to a visiting sovereign. Probably the Egyptian queen went to Rome armed for conquest. With her was his sister, Brenus, who had the most beautiful hair of any woman known to fame at that time. That Caesar spent many hours in the charming society of "The Serpent of the Nile" was no doubt true, but this did not necessarily mean, Mrs. Taylor contended, that he succumbed entirely to her wiles.

The lecturer upheld her point by emphasizing the rigid observance to law which was a characteristic of Caesar. It was the custom of Romans of the time to name illegitimate children as well as other relatives in their wills. That Caesar did not in this way recognize Caesarion, son of Cleopatra, seemed to prove definitely that the child was not his. With Brutus the acknowledgment of the relations was generally accepted. The history of Caesar's domestic relations was recounted. Little was known of his father other than that he gained the praetorship and died when Caesar was 15 years of age. His mother was Aurelia, a matron of the old school, simple and frugal, looking with fear and distrust on the larger liberties and disregard of conventions which young women of the period. To her wise and disciplinary direction of his studies historians credit much of Caesar's greatness. He was first married to Cossutia, the daughter of a knight, a marriage which might easily have been regarded intolerably by the haughty Julian family. When 19 years of age he married a second time, Cornelia, the daughter of Cinna. On account of this marriage he had to flee Rome, Sulla, the dictator, trying to force him to divorce Cornelia on condition of his being spared proscription. But Caesar refused, fled to the Sabine Hills, and only returned when the intercession of his uncle, Aurelius Cotta and the Vestal Virgins made it possible for him to do so in safety. Cornelia died, and in turn Caesar married Pompeia, a niece of Sulla and Calpurnia, to whom he showed great affection.

The adaptability of the London girl to farm work is equalled by the adaptability of London youth (particularly the real Cockney type) to almost any work and any circumstances. I have known a Cockney, entirely ignorant of machinery, learn all about a threshing machine inside a week, and to be in sole control of it on the eighth day. And it is well known that some of our smartest cavalrymen are Cockneys. Young fellows who were never on a horse before become expert riders in an incredibly short time. Whatever else the Cockney may or may not be he is nearly always observant, quick in the uptake, and useful with his hands.—London Chronicle.

"Sir," said the angry woman. "I understand you said I had a face that would stop a street car in the middle of the block?" "Yes, that's what I said," calmly answered the mere man. "It takes an unusually handsome face to induce a motorman to make a stop like that."—Topsieka Journal.

"Pop, what do we mean by economy?" "Spending money in such a way as not to get any fun out of it, my son."

NEW BISHOP IS TO BE ELECTED

Special Session of Synod of Diocese Will Convene
To-morrow

To-morrow morning there will convene a special meeting of the synod of the diocese of British Columbia for the purpose of electing a bishop to succeed the late Rt. Rev. Augustine Scriven. There will be a communion service at Christ Church cathedral at 9:45; the synod to meet immediately after. Ballotting, it is expected, will begin before noon, and will continue uninterruptedly until one of the candidates is elected.

The diocese of British Columbia has been without a bishop since the death on June 20 this year of Bishop Scriven, who had only served in the office for ten months, and whose untimely and sudden removal was greatly mourned throughout the island. It is not known yet how many of the 150 delegates to the synod will be present, but it is estimated that probably about 20 of the clergy and 100 of the laity will attend the session. Three of the clergy, Rev. Mr. Stevenson, of Cowichan district; Rev. G. H. Andrews, rector of St. Mary's, Oak Bay, and Rev. William Barton, are at present on active service as regimental chaplains with overseas forces. The Dean of Columbia will preside. Both Archdeacon Collison and Archdeacon Sweet will be present, and most of the parishes throughout the diocese will be represented.

The meeting of the synod will be held behind closed doors, and none but the delegates will be allowed to be present.

News of another outbreak in Sumatra—this time of the Sarekat Islam—need occasion no surprise. Perhaps we did wisely in letting the island pass out of our brief possession a hundred years ago, for certainly the experiences of the Dutch there have been most unfortunate. Right up to the Boer war, the northern province of Achene, where, by the by, capitalism is not yet wholly extinct, was in an almost chronic state of revolt, and in other parts of the island revolutions were frequent. Misgovernment has no doubt been largely the cause of rebellion, but it is to be remembered that Sumatra is the ancestral home of the Malays, a people whose tendency to run amok is proverbial.—London Chronicle.

As Business Gets Better

WEEK AFTER WEEK, it behooves every man and woman who wants to get his or her full share of returning prosperity to be sure that no opportunities for profitable enterprise are overlooked. DON'T FORGET THE LITTLE THINGS which often lead to big ones. Many a man has passed by opportunities he thought too trivial for attention, while others by the expenditure of only a few cents on the same opportunities have started forces moving which resulted in thousands of dollars profit. Many a "Want Ad" in the Times, apparently insignificant, has resulted in successes far greater than we even dreamed of.

OPENING UP ROAD

TO THE LOGAN PARK

Long Standing Matter is Now in Hand; Other Subjects

At the Saanich council meeting last evening it was reported that the work of opening up Vladuet road, from Westwoodvale towards the Logan property was in progress. This is the road which will eventually make available the Logan park offered by Mr. Logan to the municipality in 1914, provided that access was given to his property, which at present is inaccessible.

Municipal Engineer Johnston stated that in carrying on the work he had also made a traverse of the park site, and had ascertained that it was developed systematically it would become one of the finest parks on the coast.

Authority was given to continue with the opening of the promised trail, and to push the scheme in order that the property may be accessible.

The deputy minister of public works wrote authorizing the expenditure in connection with Saanich roads as follows: West road, Black Hill to Observatory road, $2,000; Wilkinson road, Burnside road to provincial jail, $1,500; Butcher's road, West Saanich road to Brentwood hotel, $700; and Lansdowne road, from Shelbourne street to Normal school, $900. It was decided to thank D. M. Eberhart, K. C., for his interest in the matter.

Councillor Jones advocated an early start on Wilkinson road, and to have a good job made as far as the money would go, in widening and straightening the road, and then improving it advantageously. He was satisfied that the land necessary for widening would be given by owners.

Councillor Borden said as chairman of the works committee he would go over the road with the engineer.

The reeve stated that the road needed improvement, while Councillor Grant remarked that it was a hard road to improve on account of its character.

Suggestions with regard to the better lighting and protection of the crossings by railways in Ward II. were made by Councillor Carey in a report.

He particularly recommended this in connection with the three crossings of the Victoria & Sidney railway in the ward at Tolmie avenue, Cloverdale avenue and Saanich road. Some of the C. N. R. crossings were dangerous, but the menace could be decreased by removing lights to various points covering the crossings, while in other cases the roads were not open. All but one of the B. C. Electric railway crossings were lighted. The councillor recommended that the subject should be brought up in the convention of the Union of B. C. Municipalities.

It was decided to obtain the opinion of the solicitor on the matter.

Councillor Grant thought that the time had come when the council should take up again the matter of fares on the Victoria & Sidney railway with the railway board.

No action, however, was taken, though Councillor Grant said he should act individually.

With regard to the suggested opening of a road from the old West road to the new West road, in order to enable the children from that section to reach Prospect Lake road, as requested by the school board, the engineer reported that the proposed road was unsatisfactory owing to a swamp and a bluff of rock, and suggested an alternative route of less troublesome character.

Councillor Grant strongly supported the proposal for the scheme as amended, and the motion was adopted.

Councillor Digson drew attention to the necessity of protecting the edges of the paved way on Gorge road. He asked for $200 for improving one side.

Councillor Tanner said that situation was general throughout the municipality.

Eventually it was decided to obtain a report on the matter from the engineer.

The council awarded a contract for two-inch pipe to the Canadian Fairbanks Morse Company, and for one and a half inch pipe to Randall & Greenshaw, in each case the lowest tenderers.

The engineer reported that it would be unwise to spend money till the owners come together and agree on a common course for the widening and deepening of a ditch tributary to the Lost Lake creek, near Kenneth street and Mackenzie street intersection, on account of the heavy rock excavation.

He pointed out that the work would be available," said the speaker.

Councillor Borden said the real trouble was to clear out the watercourse at the intersection of the two streets mentioned above, and then the owners could be approached later. In that way Mrs. Newcombe, the complainant, would be benefited before the wet weather set in.

The engineer said that work would not cost much.

Mrs. J. C. Kemp Explains Work of B. C. Consumers' League

Only one of the two addresses which were to have been given yesterday afternoon at the Home Products Exhibition, Hudson's Bay building, was heard. This was an interesting paper by Mrs. J. C. Kemp, of Vancouver, president of the B. C. Consumers' League, who dealt at length with a movement which is yearly extending its influence. Mrs. Ralph Smith, who was announced to speak, was not present.

The B. C. Consumers' League, Mrs. Kemp explained, had been working actively almost two years. The membership to-day was 10,000, scattered all through the province. Like all progressive movements it had enemies as well as staunch friends, but the efforts to educate the buying public to patronize the home products was taking hold. People were awakening to the need of supporting home prosperity first. The objects of the league were briefly outlined.

To encourage British Columbia production in industrial, agricultural, mineral and all other useful lines. To promote preferential buying in British Columbia of the goods and products first of British Columbia, second of Canada, third of the empire in general. To bring producer and consumer more closely together. To insist upon purity and healthfulness in foodstuffs and maintain the high standards of all British Columbia products. To guard the interests of British Columbia consumers. To influence consumers to pay cash, or if not, to pay their bills promptly. To influence consumers to shop as early as possible and to regulate their buying so as to keep deliveries as few as possible.

What the Press Did.

In the long uphill task, Mrs. Kemp acknowledged gratefully, the press of the province had given splendid support. Over ninety publications had helped to spread the movement and the thanks of the league were due for the invaluable assistance which they had rendered. Mrs. Kemp particularly referred to the liberal space given by the four Vancouver papers. Persons and institutions had also to be thanked for assistance in carrying forward the work: H. H. Stevens, M. P.; W. E. Scott, deputy minister of agriculture, who had brought the weight of his department to bear in advancing the interests of the movement; J. A. Cunningham, president of the B. C. Manufacturers' Association; and others.

In explaining the scope of its achievements the Consumers' League, Mrs. Kemp pointed out, had last year been instrumental in keeping at home at least $1,000,000. Lack of funds had greatly hampered the work, and members of the association were appealed to to advertise in the association magazine.

Work of the League.

Wastage was one of the things which the league had to fight. The agricultural department of the province had issued a statement declaring that every year British Columbia consumed imported farm produce to the extent of $22,000,000. The board of trade issued a statement to the effect that the province annually bought $25,000,000 worth of manufactured articles, which already were or could be produced here. This meant a total wastage of $47,000,000 every year, enough money to support 100,000 families in comfort.

The people of British Columbia had the power in their hands to alleviate poverty, and the league had been formed with the idea of educating the people to take advantage of this power.

In five years there could be saved to the people of this province the enormous sum of $245,000,000. Payrolls would benefit by that much, and in the end the individual home would take on a more prosperous appearance because the money to support that home would be more readily forthcoming.

The local or home industry which was well patronized by the country in which it is located repaid the patronage by employing more help, and thus turned back into common circulation a great portion of the money which it received.

"I venture to say that there is not one of us here to-day who can conscientiously state that no foreign-made product has been purchased during the past year when a local product was available," said the speaker.

Wardrobes are filled with imported clothing and fabrics, our pantries are stocked with imported foodstuffs, and our home and office gear generally are supplied with articles which, upon investigation prove to have originated outside the British empire. Let us all begin to ask for the origin of the article we purchase. Of course there are many things which cannot be made in British Columbia. This province yearly buys such articles to the extent of $15,000,000. But although British Columbia cannot provide these things the British Empire can, and we should see to it that the empire gets a chance to provide them for us."

Stamp of Origin.

The resolution passed by the Consumers' League recommending the stamping of all imported goods, tinned fruit and vegetables, eggs, etc., with the name of the country of origin was read. This would help the purchaser to tell at a glance if the article was a home or a foreign product and whether fresh or stale.

Window displays were another point which had come within the observation of the league. The league had pointed out to retailers the disloyalty of displaying imported goods in their windows and putting temptation in the way of the buyer. Another self-imposed task was that of supplying J. W. Ross, Canadian Trade Commissioner at Shanghai, China, with a 218 pound box containing British Columbia products for the annual Dominion Day luncheon which the commissioner gives in Shanghai, the president of the league having heard that the only peculiarly Canadian products which the commissioner had been able to secure for the occasion were cheese and whiskey. Biscuits, candy, preserved fruits, salmon, macaroni, and other Canadian-made things were provided, and the letter of acknowledgment which Mr. Ross sent was immensely appreciative.

"Last spring and this the league was assured that the strawberries grown in this province would be sufficient to supply the needs of the province," Mrs. Kemp continued. "The league therefore carried out a campaign through the newspapers and our magazine with the idea of inducing the public to wait until the British Columbia fruit was ready for the market instead of buying California fruit, which is always a fortnight ahead of the local product."

German Goods.

"At the time when the allies released hundreds of millions of dollars worth of German goods which had been bottled up in European ports, great quantities of these goods reached the United States. Commission houses there endeavored to dispose of these goods in Canada, and wrote letters to hundreds of wholesale houses in the Dominion advising them that they had purchased these goods very cheaply and would therefore be able to sell cheaply. The league took the matter up and wrote articles to all the papers throughout the province advising them of the attempt being made to secure a market for German goods in Canada. The papers printed the articles, warning the public against the campaign and, in this way many thousands of dollars were prevented from crossing the line. Had this effort to get German goods into Canada via the United States succeeded, it would have been the first forerunner of succeeding shipments."

"Sometimes the statement is made that British Columbia does not produce enough farm produce to support its people. Is it not absurd to suppose that a province of the magnitude of British Columbia is unable to produce agricultural products to support less than half a million people? During 1915 the lower mainland alone supplied the market with 36,000 boxes of apples, 2,750 boxes of pears, 24,000 crates of plums, and 52,646 crates of raspberries. If our fruit ranches are given the support due them they will be able to supply the province and export also. There is another branch of farming which offers a profitable living to the small investor, and that is hen farming. In 1914 the people of British Columbia paid duty on 2,854,178 dozen eggs. In 1915 we paid duty on only 552,399 dozen, being a decrease of 2,301,779 dozen. The falling off in imports was due to the addition of a 7 1/2 per cent. war tax on the regular duty of 2 cents per dozen. The jobbers found that the tax was prohibitive. They went to eastern Canada for their supplies and found to their surprise that Canada could supply this province with all the eggs she needed. That much money was kept in British Columbia which was formerly sent outside. Surely the lesson should be learned from this instance. But, unfortunately, we learn no lesson until we are forced to. Our jobbers will continue to buy abroad until a prohibitive tariff is imposed."

That British Columbia was on the eve of opening a great trade with Australia was claimed. Australia could supply Canada with a number of products which this country was procuring elsewhere. Australian lemons and oranges, for instance, The Dominion, and the Empire as a whole, must begin now a campaign against German goods and German labor, which would probably follow the war. In England the Anti-German league had been formed with the object of excluding German influence of all kinds from the land over which floated the British flag. The people of this province should see that every article bearing the hateful brand of Germany was taboo. The toy industry here came in for mention, and reference made to the opportunities given citizens to visit some of the larger manufacturing concerns to see what was being made in British Columbia. The province was waking up to the value of the movement and was anxious to know more about the objects of the league.

Something of what the league had to do in the future was outlined. One of the sacred obligations which the province must meet was the providing for the soldiers who returned from the front. It should never be said that a single soldier of the British Empire gave his services to his country and then lived to regret that he had thrown away the opportunities which were his when he forgot all in order to answer the call to duty. British Columbia must prepare herself to receive the legions of the flag who would return from the front. The work of the league was directed to the building up of the payrolls of the province in such a way that every returned soldier would be able to secure employment at once when he took off his uniform. Only a prosperous country could repay a soldier for his sacrifice. An impoverished country could not do this. British Columbia in its present state was utterly incapable of supporting the men who were now at the front should they suddenly be released and come flocking back to this province.

It was the duty of the province to see that the money spent day by day was spent with a view to building up British Columbia. It was a sacred trust in keeping to be exercised for the benefit of the men who were now fighting at the front.

"In the hearts of our people there lies a sense of justice which is the pride of the Anglo-Saxon. Let us bring this mighty power to bear on the injustice of our desertion of industrial British Columbia to follow the will of the-wind of foreign commerce. Let us see to it that the dollar we have earned in the land that holds us is spent to better that land."
